An old man named HARVEY, living on Mud Creek, six miles west of Rochester, while engaged last Saturday week in feeding his stock, was so badly frozen that he died from the effects of his injuries last Friday night ... It is said that his face was so badly frozen and swollen that the skin in places actually parted ... [NOTE: probably J. W. HARVEY, d. Dec. 27, 1872, ae 62y-9m-9d, Jean C. and Wendell C. Tombaugh, Fulton County Indiana Cemeteries, Leiters Ford I.O.O.F. Cemetery, Aubbeenaubee Twp. - Ed.]

SAM BARKDOLL begins the new year with six sore boils on his neck.

We counted over one hundred teams on Main street, Saturday last ...

Business opened lively on New Year's Day. Main street was thronged with teams, and merchants and clerks were kept busy.

Our correspondent at Kewanna, Mr. J. W. BRANTHOFFER, suffered the loss of his residence and household goods, together with a considerable quantity of provisions, by fire on Christmas Eve... The Kewannaites propose to extend such assistance as will make the loss fall lightly upon Mr. Branthoffer.

FIRE. - On Sunday night last, between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, flames were discovered issuing from the Flax Factory. An alarm was promptly spread, and a large number of people repaired to the spot only, to witness the conflagration, as the inflammable nature of the structure, together with the scarcity of water, precluded the idea of staying the progress of the flames. The origin of the fire is unknown, but it was clearly the result of gross carelessness, if not the work of an incendiary. The proprietors, Messrs. KELLY & RHINEHART, are both absent from town, having ceased operations for the winter. No fires had been made in the building for a week or more by any parties having a right about the premises. It is reported, however, that a party of boys were cooking chickens in the front room during the day. The building and contents were insured for a term of two months for the sum of $3,800, in companies for which DOWNY & JONES are agents. The loss may therefore be said to be fully covered by insurance.

L. D. ADKISON had a fine blooded bull to die last week.

At a SPELLING SCHOOL held at the Prairie Union School House, last Friday night, Miss ADA MERRICK won the belt ...

ED. HORTON's nether parts scraped the snow on his way to school last Tuesday. It was a bad day for ducks and other short-legged bipeds.

At the SPELLING SCHOOL held at Ellsworth School House, one mile south of town, last week, JOHN H. PYLE, teacher, Mrs. WM. DOWNS proved to be the best speller.

Miss LIZZIE NORRIS, living near Rochester, received for her Christmas present thirty-eight pounds of assorted candies, sent to her by her Uncle, who resides at Dayton, O

Messrs. WAGONER & HUGHES are now engaged in getting in saw logs, and will, we learn, again start their mill soon.

Mr. J. Y. WHEATLY, is astonishing the natives by selling them a medicine that makes the old young and the afflicted sound and happy...

FULTON ITEMS

Mrs. HENRY DAY presented her husband with a New Year's gift in the shape of a girl baby, the seventh one. It is a true saying that it is hard to tell what a Day may bring forth.

Miss AGNES DAY, aged 12 years, daughter of 'Squire DAY, came off victor at a SPELLING MATCH at Union School, New Year's night, spelling down two schools.

AKRON ITEMS

Rev. Mr. BELL is holding a protracted meeting at Pleasant Hill, a few miles south of this place...

FRANK TERRY and LOSSON NOYER returned to the Smithsonian University, where they intend to remain until the close of the year.

While SPENCER STRONG was driving up and down our streets on New Year's day, in his new forty-five dollar sleigh, his horse became frightened, which resulted in no further damage than the breaking of the dash of the sleigh.

Miss LIDA STRADLEY, of Rochester, is visiting friends in this place at this writing.

Our gentlemanly Sheriff, SIDNEY R. MOON, was here on business New Year's day. Sid. appears to be the same jovial, good natured fellow as in years gone by, when he and the writer of this were school mates in a little frame school house in an adjoining county.

Died of epizootic, Dec. 20, 1872, at the residence of WM. HULING, a few miles southwest of this place, one donkey...

MILO BRIGHT received a holiday present, the other day, consisting of a fine young daughter.

The Akron Sabbath School Festival in the M.E. Church, New Year's night, proved to be a grand success. The music given by the school was considered by every one present to be first class. Miss SHEPHERD and Miss LONG, of Rochester, favored the audience with a few pieces of music... The proceeds of the evening amounted to about $65.00 ...

DIED. - HARRIET GOULD, aged about 75 years, a maiden aunt of the Gould family of Rochester, died in this place last Sunday morning.

MARRIED. - On Wednesday, January 8, 1873, at the bride's residence, by Rev. F. M. ELLIOTT, Dr. A. K. PLANK and Miss MATTIE TRIMBLE, all of Rochester. ... The parties move in the most respectable circles, ... Both are in the very prime of life ... Some fears have been entertained, however, in regard to Mattie launching out on the broad sea of matrimony lashed to a single Plank, but then, you know, she will have two buoys (CHARLEY and WILL) to keep her afloat. It is also said that the Doctor Trimble violently in anticipation of the event

The Presbyterian Sociable meets at the residence of H. B. JAMISON, Esq., on Tuesday evening next, Jan. 14.

JOHN PRILL was married on New Year's day to a lady residing in Henry County. The happy pair reached home on Tuesday last.

The dwelling house of Mr. GEO. H. BABCOCK, situated near Ebenezer Church and a few miles south of town, took fire Saturday morning and burned to the ground ... Loss about $400. No insurance.

Our friend JOSEPH H. BEEBER, while putting on his overcoat in the office of the Central House, on Tuesday evening, fell down in a fit, which was succeeded by spasm after spasm until a late hour at night, and from which he barely escaped with his life. He had just eaten a hearty meal, was in usual robust health, and the blow was unexpected as it well could be. Joseph's age is about thirty-five, and all his life he has been exceedingly temperate and [?] in his habits. The cause of his affliction is therefore utterly unknown and most mysterious ... At this writing the patient is much better, and hopes are entertained of his early and complete recovery.

We understand that the Commissioners, appalled at the expense of an iron fence, have about decided to put up a wooden structure around the COURT HOUSE Square. Such "economy" is none of the wisest. Fulton County is fully able to begin to show in her public buildings signs of the great wealth of her soil and the energy and taste of her inhabitants.

CHANGE OF FIRM. On and after the first of January, 1873, the old and well-known firm of ERNSPERGER & JACKSON will be changed to ERNSPERGER, JACKSON & CO

There was a hop at FEKE HUDKINS' last night ... kept up until 3 o'clock.

WHITTENBERGER & BALL are selling their entire stock of dry goods and groceries at auction. We understand that Mr. Whittenberger intends to go West in the spring.

JERRY BURNS, living a few miles northwest of this place, met with rather an unexpected accident the other day. Becoming a little enraged with his horse, he concluded to ascertain what virtue there might be in a few well directed blows from his fist against the head of the quadruped. A single blow brought about the necessary result. Jerry's hand requires careful nursing. The horse is out of danger.

Miss MARY WORDEN, living a few miles south of town, is down with the typhoid fever, and death is knocking at the door of her tabernacle.

JOHN ELAM, Esq., long confined to his room by sickness is, we are glad to hear, improving in health ...

The LITERARY SOCIETY at the PRAIRIE UNION SCHOOL house was well attended last Saturday night.

JOHN CHAMP either lost or had stolen from him, last Saturday, a pocket book containing twenty-five dollars in money besides valuable papers.

Many of the school houses in this county are in a very bad condition, and are really not fit for tender young children to go into. With the under-pinnings gone, the plastering off, and holes in the floors, it is simply impossible to keep them comfortably warm. With a school of forty or fifty children, only a portion of them can get near enough to the stove to keep warm, while the others have to take back seats and half freeze. This ought not to be so. Our school houses ought to be made as warm and comfortable as our dwellings are. In fact the health of children is jeopardized by cold school houses. Constitutions naturally weak give way under their baneful influence. Consumption is bred in them. Those whose duty it is to attend to these matters ought to see to it that the necessary improvements are made before another winter sends scores of children to little graves.

Richland TOWNSHIP INSTITUTE will be held at Center School House, of said township, on Saturday, February 1st, 1873 ... W. H. GREEN, Exlr.

LOVE AND SUICIDE. Walnut Township, Marshall Co. has been the scene of a tragical occurrence. It appears that a man named JOHN DAWSON had for some time been paying his attentions to a Miss WATTLE, and had become very much enamored of her. But his affection was not fully reciprocated by the young lady, and on being informed by her that she loved a man by the name of SPENCER better than she did Dawson, the latter became very despondent, and probably brooded over what he deemed a misfortune so long that his reason became temporarily dethroned, and he ended his existence last Sunday by shooting himself...

While religious services were being held last Sunday at the Orr school house, and while Mr. THOMAS MERCER was offering up prayer, some young men ... disturbed the congregation by their ill-mannered and unruly behavior ... Rev. WOOD (obtained) their names. What he proposes to do in the premises we are not advised...

We understand that parties are here from Ohio who intend erecting a SAW MILL somewhere in the vicinity of the FLAX MILL. It is badly needed ...

WILLIAM HEFFLEY and W. H. DENISTON have each buried a child this week.

ELIHU FLETCHER of Richland township, was fined $20 and costs in Esq'r. ASHTON's court for using obscene and vulgar language toward a lady of that neighborhood ...

The contract awarded BOWERS & McCLARY by the county Commissioners for putting in a stone foundation around the COURT HOUSE square, on which an iron fence was to have been placed, has been rescinded. The Commissioners have learned that a beautiful iron fence can be built without the aid of a stone foundation, and at a very great saving of expense from the former plan adopted by them. The fence will be built in the spring and the general appearance of the square will be greatly improved thereby.

ESSICK is happy. It's a boy, and weighs 10 lbs.

A boy named ADAMS, while scuffling with another lad, had his leg broken last Thursday. The accident occurred at or near PRAIRIE UNION SCHOOL House.

TAMARACK CORNERS, a locality seven miles east of Rochester, aspires to be a post office. There are already two stores in the neighborhood, and the interests of commerce plainly demand MAIL facilities.

Mr. S. E. STRICKLAND, who resides one square east of the Wallace House, is engaged in the sale of territorial rights to manufacture and sell a Patent Spring Wagon Seat, one of which may be seen at Heffley's Blacksmith Shop. This seat is destined to become very popular with farmers and others, being placed on coiled springs, so arranged as to be at once neat and durable.

RAILROAD MEETING... at the Court House on Saturday evening last "for the purpose of taking into consideration the propriety of enjoining the collection of the tax levied in the townships of Rochester and Union in behalf of the CONTINENTAL RAILROAD." ... names mentioned): C. VAN TRUMP, E. E. COWGILL., ED. CALKINS, Dr. ROBBINS, A. C. BEARSS, Mr. JAMISON, JACOB S. SLICK.

ROCHESTER UNION SPY, Thursday, January 30, 1873

MARRIED. - After a lingering courtship of more than two years duration, Mr. PERRY DUNCAN and Miss ANNA RAVEN were married in this place yesterday...

- Mr. JACOB GERSON and Miss ANNA LEWIS were married in this place yesterday. On the occasion of a former marriage we gave Jacob an extended notice, which he failed to appreciate ... we will simply state that the only singularity about the proceeding consists in the fact that the groom is of Jewish origin while the bride is of Gentile extraction.

HENRY TOWNSHIP TEACHERS' INSTITUTE to be in the Public School building in Akron... February 8th ... (names mentioned): F. P. BITTERS, A. H. SHAFER, A. L. SHAFER, W. H. SICKMAN, Miss ALICE WHITTENBERGER, Miss EDITH THOMPSON, SILAS HOFFMAN, W. H. DAVIS, C. RANTZ, Dr. J. G. SHAFER.

LINCOLN. IND.

Though small, our town possesses some energetic business men... W. H. HATCH and J. W. HURST, merchants, both doing a fair business; L. D. HUDSON, druggist, with a respectable stock for a small place; E. GUYER, Blacksmith; LIMAN HATCH, wagon maker; L. CUFFLE, cabinet maker.

WAGONER & SWIHART's new steam flouring mill is rapidly approaching completion...

Mr. HENRY EWING... is erecting a large and commodious hotel ...
D. R. OGDEN... his new shoe shop.

TAMARACK ITEMS

This place is called by various names, but I suppose it will be christened TAMARACK CORNER, as application has been made here for a post office bearing that name.

We have two stores, owned respectively by BEN. NOFTSGER and SHEETS & WOLF. Mr. Noftsger has a general assortment and is doing a fair business. People like him because he is a man of great forbearance...

Sheets & Wolf are also doing a good business, but I would advise people who go there for goods to trade with Wolf, as he sells under cost frequently in order to make quick sales.

We have three mechanics in town. WM. CURTIS, broom maker, cannot be excelled for beauty and durability of work ...

Mr. FEECE is "jack of all trades," and there is nothing he cannot do. I never knew him to fail but once, and that was on an engine at RUGH's mill. He repaired it and started up, but the thing ran the wrong way....

We have two shingle factories, owned respectively by Mr. EWING and Mr. MITCHEL. Ewing's work is warranted not to split in nailing on, providing you nail the thick end up. Mitchel makes good shingles, but he labors under a great disadvantage. Not having a wife, he has to go over a mile for his grub. He wants a wife, and is not particular about age or condition in life, so she can cook.

We have no officers in town; neither do we need any, as we are all honest. DAVID SHEETS, constable, who lives a short distance from the village, is the nearest representative of the majesty of the law. He makes a mighty good officer where there is nothing to do.

DAVID FEECE is doing well. He is dressing fowls for Noftsger, and has more feathers on hands than he wants.

BLUE GRASS GOSSIP

Close upon the heels of the epizootic came the measles; the former has run its course, while the latter is so prevalent that scarcely a family escapes; many of the schools were broken up for a time.

JNO. HAWKINS has sold his farm to the RANS brothers. He designs either purchasing in this locality again, or returning to Jersey from when he came.

We are informed that G. B. LEASE has purchased property in Cass county, and will move upon it in the spring.

Mr. BALL's mill is in running order and at work again...

Mr. POTTER and S. N. BEATTIE still pursue the even tenor of their ways, dispensing the comforts of life to those who, in return, are willing to part with their cash or their credit.

Since we last wrote the exterior of C. S. LAMBERT's dwelling has been much improved by the addition of a new front, and the interior embellished by the addition of a new babe.

"About two o'clock yesterday afternoon, a man came staggering into the office of the Palmer House, as he said, in search of a friend. Immediately on entering the room he commenced to talk in a loud and boisterous manner, thereby attracting general attention. Fearing that he would create a disturbance, one of the proprietors ordered the porter to put him out. The porter took him by the arm, led him to the door, and was leading him down the steps, when the man refused to go further, and began to make a stubborn resistance. In jerking away from his captor, he stepped back and fell over the railing, striking headforemost on the brick sidewalk beneath. He was picked up in an insensible condition and taken to the Surgical Institute, where it was found that he was dangerously injured. He struck on the back of his head from a height of about fifteen feet and for a wonder did not break his skull. He remained insensible nearly all the forenoon from the combined effects of whisky and his fall, and the physicians could hardly determine his exact condition, though they regarded the chances of his recovery as extremely doubtful. From one of his companions it was learned that his name was CHARLES SMITH, and that he was a watchmaker by trade. His family lives in Logansport where he was well known, though he has been in the city for some time. At latest accounts no improvement could be observed in his appearance."

A dispatch received here Tuesday morning announces the death of the unfortunate young man. Deceased was a native of Rochester, but was brought up in Logansport. He learned his trade here, however, at ASHTON'S JEWELRY STORE, and was well known among our citizens. He was a son of ANTHONY SMITH, Esq., and a nephew of Hon. MILO R. SMITH, Senator from the counties of Cass and Fulton...

ROCHESTER UNION SPY, Thursday, February 20, 1873

Mr. BITTERS has called to his aid in the editorial and business management of the SENTINEL, Mr. ISAIAH CONNER, a well-known attorney of this place. We predict that Mr. C. will prove a valuable addition to the corps editorial ... The new editor may rely on the cooperation of the SPY in all his efforts to elevate the tone of journalistic intercourse. We indulge none but good wishes toward our neighbor, the SENTINEL, which, under the management of Mr. Bitters, has been one of the ablest and fairest Democratic papers in the State.

Rochester don't make many loud boasts or great pretensions, but it really is about the liveliest little city we know of. Day after day at this season of the year, from 100 to 200 wagons may be counted on Main street, while almost every trading place seems to be full of customers. A stranger accosted us on the street the other day and asked if anything unusual was going on in town. We told him that there was nothing out of the common order in progress, when he remarked that he had just arrived on the train, and was surprised to find this such a stirring place. Looking around we observed only what is to be seen every fine day, but, nevertheless, it was a busy scene.

The remains of CHAS. SMITH, who was killed by a fall from the steps of the Palmer House, Indianapolis, were brought to this place for interment last Thursday.

We learn on apparently good authority that several respectable ladies have been assaulted on our streets recently, at a late hour of night, evidently with foul intent. Such circumstances admit of no comment, except the warning that a long rope and a short shrift awaits any one guilty of the nameless crime here hinted at.

Dr. WALTER W. SMITH, a stranger in these parts, died at the Central House yesterday noon. There was an air of mystery hanging about deceased that has so far resisted all attempts to penetrate it. No one here knows anything about him, save that he has frequented this region for two or three years past. His business was that of hunting up defective land titles, in which he was supposed to be moderately successful, realizing considerable sums of money. It was generally believed that Hon. MILO R. SMITH shared in the profits of some of these transactions, but that gentleman disclaims other than a limited business knowledge of deceased's affairs... He claimed to live at some town or station within ten miles of Baltimore, Md., but this is regarded as doubtful. He also claimed that he served through the war as Colonel of a regiment of Virginia rebels. He was a man of medium size, florid countenance, and pleasing address. Though never boisterous, he was a hard drinker, and whiskey undoubtedly had much to do with his taking off. His age was about 50 years. If not claimed by friends, his remains, we suppose, will be buried here at public expense.

SALOON PRAYER MEETINGS. The M.E. Church of this place closed a protracted meeting of several weeks duration last Monday evening, having enjoyed "a season of refreshing from the presence of the Lord." A dozen accessions have been made to the fold, the church has been thoroughly aroused, and many backsliders reclaimed. As an evidence of the spirit these meetings have infused into the religious element of this place, it may be mentioned that two saloons were visited last week and prayer meetings held therein. At both places the intrepid Christian band, who had thus dared to penetrate the strongholds of evil, were kindly received and respectfully treated

The new and splendid FENCE that is to be put around the PUBLIC SQUARE in the course of the summer, will put the Court House to shame, and cause our shabby old jail to hide its diminished head. Two weeks ago JOSEPH SCHAAF, a German in the employ of JOHN TAYLOR, while crossing the old BRIDGE over the Chippewanoc, on the Fort Wayne road, was thrown off the wagon he was driving, and suffered a compound fracture of the right leg. Mr. Schaaf is a poor man, but a very honest and worthy one, and he has friends who propose to try conclusions with the county in a suit for damages. There is a new bridge at the crossing, but it is inaccessible and has never been used. The neglect to make it accessible will probably cost the county a considerable sum.

MARRIED. - On yesterday, April 23, 1873, at the residence of the bride's parents, by Rev. F. M. ELLIOTT, Mr. HENRY MILLER and Miss REBECCA McBRIDE, all of this county.

NEWTON BERRIER was arraigned before Esq. ASHTON, Friday, on a charge of attempting to procure a miscarriage on the person of Miss LETITIA A. REID. He was held to bail in the sum of $300 for his appearance at the next term of the Circuit Court. We waive the opportunity for a sensational article in this instance, on the ground that the publication of the details of the trial would not subserve the cause of public morality. It is proper to say, however, that the trial was conducted with due regard to the proprieties of life as far as possible, and the prurient curiosity of the throng of men and boys who crowded the court room was not satisfied. It is sad to note the demoralization of the times which this case reveals. The spectacle of a young farmer and a country girl deliberately conniving at the life of an unborn child is too horrible for contemplation. As long as this form of vice was confined to the so-called upper circles of society, its effects were of trivial importance comparatively; but now that it has made its appearance among the yeomanry of the land, at the very foundations of society and fountain of virtue, who can forshadow the end?

JOHN WALLACE was fined $1 and costs for committing an assault and battery upon the person of WARREN GILMAN, Saturday.

KEWANNA ITEMS

FIRE. A few nights ago Mr. I. N. McCOY's shop was discovered to be on fire by one of the family, and before any aid could be rendered, the whole building was in flames. He used it for a store house for all his tools ... a complete set of carpenter's tools, a lot of lumber, farming tools, harness, some grain, and ... 800 weight of pork... caused by sheer carelessness... Mr. McCoy had partitioned off a small corner ... for a smoke house... He claims a loss of $500.

On last Monday, R. MINTON was arrested on a charge of breach of promise and bastardy, on complaint of Miss MURRAY.. of Wayne Tp. The victim is but fifteen years of age. Now we deem it a shame and an outrage for a man of Mr. Minton's standing to seduce and deceive one of such tender years, and no better on the part of the girl's father, Mr. MURRAY., for settling the matter with Mr. Minton for $300, thus not valuing the character of his daughter very highly; also said that if M. would marry her he should have his $300 back. Decidedly cool, that, Mr. Murray. In our estimation, nothing short of solitary confinement for a term of years at Michigan City ought to satisfy the cravings of the law in this case. REUB. you will have to teach another term or two over there to pay that, or marry the girl.

CORPORATION ELECTION. Those elected: Trustee, First Ward, J. F. FROMM; Trustee, Second Ward, CALVIN VAN TRUMP; Trustee, Third Ward, E. E. COWGILL; Clerk, T. J. McCLARY and C. E. REYNOLDS (tied); Assessor, JOHN L. BLANCHARD; Treasurer, J. W. ROSS; Marshal, SHANNON MACKKEY.

One day last week, JAMES RICHARDSON, of Henry Township, became involved in a quarrel that led to a fight with his wife, in which the woman proved herself to be the better man. His father was called in to settle the difficulty, and also became involved therein.... the woman prosecuted both for assault and battery, before Esq. REES. The husband plead guilty and was fined $1.00 and costs; the old gentleman was acquitted. An outside party named KTNDIG, who interfered in behalf of the woman, was fined by Esq. BURCH for assault and battery upon the person of the husband.

Subsequently the younger Richardson was held to answer a charge of drunkenness under the new law, and an additional fine of $5.00 was imposed upon him... An appeal was taken to the Circuit Court.

BROKE JAIL. - ADAM NETCHER, a well-known resident of this county, who has languished in jail for several weeks, awaiting the advent of some friend who would enter into bonds with him to keep the peace, struck for liberty last Friday morning, and left for parts unknown. He escaped after breakfast and before dinner, but as he did not go through the formality of leave-taking with the Sheriff, that officer is at a loss to understand how he got out. It is very likely, however, that the door was left unlocked, as no one supposed that the prisoner had any desire to leave until he could find a bondsman. The suit for surety of the peace was brought by his wife, who is now seeking a divorce. Everybody but the Sheriff is glad that Adam has escaped, as his confinement was entailing an expense upon the county. It is to be hoped that he has gone West, resolved to grow up with the country, and become a sober, useful man.

A strange animal, probably a catamount, was slain in Liberty Township, a few days ago, by AMOS SMITH, Esq. Two weeks ago the remains of a lady, daughter of Mr. HARDY PARKER, which were tenderly laid away in the old grave yard, near town, about two years ago, were exhumed for the purpose of being buried at another place in the same enclosure. The coffin was in a good state of preservation, the mold which covered it in spots not having rotted the wood. And more wonderful still, the corpse appeared natural, the features being well preserved. Her shroud looked just as it did when she was dressed for the grave..... The lady died of quick consumption.

ROCHESTER UNION SPY, Thursday, May 22, 1873

SHALL ROCHESTER BE MADE A CITY? More than railroads, more than fine business houses, and more than improved streets, ROCHESTER needs manufactories. Railroads seek flourishing localities, fine business houses and residences are the natural offspring of wealth, and improved streets are only necessary for the accommodation of traffic and travel. Manufacturing establishments give employment to labor, and attract foreign capital to favorable investments. And there is a time in the history of aspiring communities, when they must decide whether they will have or reject these means of producing wealth. What do the people of Rochester say? Shall we go year after year holding down store boxes and scandalizing passersby, or shall we awake and behave like men of energy and spirit? Fortunately several enterprises have struggled into existence in our midst that only require a proper degree of encouragement to become in a few years mines of wealth.

The capital and labor now engaged in the manufacture of wagons in Rochester, if aggregated, and out under the control of a superintendent, would turn out many more vehicles than it now produces. The CHAMPION WAGON, manufactured by Mr. SAMUEL HEFFLEY, finds ready sale wherever put upon the market. Now what's to hinder the formation of a company for the manufacture of wagons in Rochester? The timber can all be drawn from adjacent forests, and the skill, if not already on the ground, could be quickly supplied by thrifty emigrants whose presence would add to the population and trade of our town.

MYERS & GAINER are making commendable efforts to manufacture FURNITURE in Rochester. They have not complained to us, but we know that they need capital to increase the capacity of their shops. Why can't a company be formed to engage in the manufacture of furniture here? There will be no abatement in the demand for such wares, and such a venture would undoubtedly prove profitable. Suitable timber may be found at our very doors, at prices that would have a broad margin for profit on the manufactured article.

BARKDOLL & KENNEDY have attempted the manufacture of SASH AND DOORS, but they, too, have been cramped for lack of capital. The business is abundantly profitable, and a large interest therein could be built up here as well as at any place under the sun.

GILMAN'S FOUNDRY, together with the right to manufacture the celebrated RED BIRD PLOW, has fallen into the hands of F. M. ASHTON, Esq. Mack is an enterprising fellow, and should be encouraged and assisted to manufacture ten thousand of these plows during the coming season.

... All that we need is the spirit among our people that will say, these things shall be done. An association should be immediately formed that will put these ideas into practical operation.

NEW FIRM ... Millinery... is under the superintendence of Mrs. MORROW ... Jewelry Department ... Dry Goods ... ASHTON'S BAZER, One door South of the Farmers' National Deposit Bank, opposite the Public Square, Rochester, Ind. WM. ASHTON, May 10th, 1873.

ISAIAH WALKER, of Rochester, is understood to be a candidate for the office of County Superintendent of Schools. The election takes place the first Monday in June, when the Township Trustees will meet and elect a Superintendent...

The SENTINEL is our authority for stating that Mr. ISAIAH CONNER contemplates a change of residence, and will remove to Cambridge City, Ind., soon. Mr. Conner isn't much of an editor, but his social qualities have rendered him quite popular in Rochester. He is the life and soul of the festive board, where weak tea is the principal beverage.

ANDY EDWARDS, while putting up an awning in front of his saloon Tuesday morning, was unfortunate enough to fall from a step-ladder on which he was standing. He alighted head first on some rocks in the gutter, and was picked up stunned and bleeding... His injuries, though severe, are not serious.

DEATH OF JOHN ELAM, ESQ. It is our painful duty to announce the death of JOHN ELAM, Esq.. which occurred at his residence in this place on Friday last, May 16. 1873, at 3:30 p.m.

John Elam was born in Switzerland Co., Indiana, March 4th, 1819, and was, consequently, at the time of his death, aged 54 years, 2 months, and 12 days. . He came to this county in 1832, with his father, who had been appointed government overseer of the original POTTOWATOMIE MILLS. After remaining here some time, the son was sent back to Southern Indiana after the family, and brought them through the then almost trackless wilderness, arriving here in the summer of 1834. Riding ahead to apprise his father of the approach of the family, the youth was informed by the Indians that his parent had died some months before, and had been buried by them at a spot adjacent to the present site of the mill race. The family then consisted of the mother, three sons and five daughters, and with the shadow of this great sorrow resting upon them, they began life in a new country, settling on a tract of land one mile south of Rochester. The subject of this sketch remained a member of his mother's family until he arrived at the age of 20 years, when he was married to Miss ELIZABETH SMITH, who survives him. His mother having remarried and removed to Winamac, he took charge of the farm, of which he finally became sole possessor. He assisted in the removal of the Pottowatomie Indians, driving an ox wagon loaded with women and children to the Mississippi river. Subsequently he engaged in the hotel business, as landlord of the MANSION HOUSE, since the CONTINENTAL, which was then a RELAY STATION on the STAGE LINE then running from Indianapolis to Michigan City. Afterwards, he became proprietor of what is now known as the CENTRAL HOUSE. In the meantime, however, he helped build and equip the steam SAW MILL now owned by WM.

DOWNS. From time to time he engaged in mercantile pursuits, at various stands and locations in Rochester. In 1838 he obtained the contract for carrying the MAILS from Logansport to Plymouth, holding it four years. He was twice a candidate for County Treasurer, but was defeated both times. He held the office of Justice of the Peace eight years, and was Township Trustee several times.

The above are the main facts in the history of deceased, and to elaborate them would be to write the history of Fulton County, with whose growth and settlement he was so intimately connected. He witnessed the erection of every house now standing in Rochester, and participated in the struggles that always mark the pathway of the pioneer. In all the relations of life he was recognized and respected as a man of force and character. Younger men and men of his own age, sought his counsel frequently, and he was noted as a man of rare good judgment. In politics he was an ardent Republican, and wielded great influence in the councils of the party. The universal esteem in which he was held was testified by the immense throng that paid the last tribute of respect to his remains, filling the large audience room of the M.E. Church to its utmost capacity. He leaves a wife and three children to mourn his loss, and the entire community sympathize with their grief. Peace to his ashes.

Saloon licenses issued by the Board of County Commissioners, under the old law, expire as follows: SCHOLDER & BOSENBERG, C. A. HAWLEY and JOSEPH WIDENER, in June; JOHN P. URBIN, Kewanna, and ELLIOT BAILEY, Rochester, in September; A. MEISCH, A. J. EDWARDS, JOHN A. EDWARDS, THOS. A. BEALL, NICKLOW & ROGERS, BROADSWORD & DITTON, in December. All attempts to obtain permits under the new law have ceased, and none are likely to succeed. If the law is sustained by the courts, January 1, 1874 will find Fulton County without a solitary saloon within her borders.

MARRIAGE LICENSES issued from the Clerk's office: Henry MILLER and Henrietta R. McBRIDE, George R. LOWERY and Nancy J. LADD, Daniel R. GURGON and Gertrude THAYER, Christian T. MURRAY and Harriet E. MAN DROWNED. A man named CLAY MONTGOMERY, a cousin of the Montgomerys of this county, was drowned in the Tippecanoe River, at Tippecanoetown on Saturday last. He had been fishing, and his hook got entangled in some brush in the water. Deceased was an expert swimmer, and rather than break the hook, he stripped off his clothes and dived down to unfasten it. The spectators present saw that he did not rise again, and went to his aid. He was found in ten feet of water, sitting or squatting on the bottom, every muscle rigid, and evidently the victim of cramp. Every effort was made to resuscitate him, but all in vain. No water was found in the body a remarkable circumstance, truly - and one that should have encouraged long-continued efforts to restore life. The efforts made warmed the body and relaxed the muscles, but were otherwise unsuccessful. Deceased was about 27 years of age.

DIED. -ROBERT T. BEATTIE, an old citizen of Wayne Township, died on Tuesday morning, the 3d inst., aged 63 years. ROCHESTER UNION SPY. Thursday, June 19, 1873

JEWELRY STORE ROBBED. On Friday last Mr. C. C. WOLF, of this place, discovered that his jewelry establishment had been robbed, and circumstances led him to suspect a jeweler who had been in his employ a few days. Learning that the man, who gave his name as HARRY EDWARDS, had gone north on the Thursday afternoon train, Mr. Wolf sent ex-Marshal MYERS and Sheriff MOON in pursuit. The thief was overhauled at Plymouth, after an exciting chase, and just as he stepped on an eastward-bound train. ... The stolen property was all found on Edwards' person, except some articles which he had disposed of at Walnut and Plymouth. He was returned here Saturday noon, and bound over to await the pleasure of the Judge of the Circuit Court at the present term... the young man's chances for a quick trip to Michigan City are exceedingly brilliant. ... Edwards is a tall, shrewd-looking fellow, about 29 years old, and an Englishman by birth. He is a first-class workman, but very much dissipated in his habits.

BOY DROWNED. On Sunday last, at about 2 o'clock p.m., WARREN GILMAN, son of F. GILMAN, Esq., of this place, was drowned in the Tippecanoe River, near the old Forge Dam. Deceased was in bathing, in company with a number of smaller boys, and venturing beyond his depth, sank to rise no more before assistance could reach him. His companions were too terrified to render him any aid, but their shouting attracted the attention of some parties engaged in fishing near by. The body remained under water three-fourths of an hour, and was finally recovered by Mr. WILLIS GLAZE. An hour more elapsed before medical aid arrived at the scene, and it was then too late for a lingering hope of restoration to life.

Warren Gilman was born at Peru, Indiana, September 15, 1857, and was, consequently, at the time of his death, 15 years and 9 months old. He was quite tall for his age, and had the bearing and appearance of a much older boy. His mind was unusually bright, and he was possessed of a wide range of useful information. He worked in the SPY office three or four weeks last winter, and though not suited to the printer's trade, we regarded him as a young man of great promise. He was ingenious, intelligent and ambitious, and bid fair to become a useful member of society. His faults were those common to boys of his age, while his virtues bore the kingly stamp of manhood. A shadow is cast over his memory by the fact that he met his fate on the Sabbath, but we opine that no one day is more fatal or freer from accidents than another. Warren was a regular attendant of Sabbath Schools, and last Sunday was the first day he had missed for several months. Tired and wearied by his unremitting duties on the railroad, he sought the cool shade and soft waters of the stream on the day of rest. The news of his untimely death reached Rochester about 3 o'clock, Sabbath afternoon, casting a shadow of deep gloom over every heart. and especially that of the griefstricken father, who, in this hour of paternal woe, has the prayers and sympathy of the entire community. The boy's remains, lovely in death as he was noble in life, rest by the side of his mother, who preceded him to the grave but a few brief months ago.

TWO MEN SUFFOCATED IN A WELL. We learn from Mr. THOMAS MEREDITH that on Saturday last, at BORTON'S MILL, 15 miles east of Rochester, in Kosciusko county, two men were suffocated by damp in a well ... Mr. ELLIS BORTON, one of the proprietors ... The engineer, whose name we did not learn ...

DIED. -On Monday last the infant daughter of JAMES HARVEY, brother-in-law of the Hon. P. S. TROUTMAN, died of cerebro spinal meningitis, and on last Wednesday while the friends were returning from the funeral, Mr. Troutman's team became frightened and ran away, precipitating all within the conveyance to the ground, including the captain, his wife and daughter. Mr. Troutman's wounds were fortunately but slight. His wife received severe internal injuries, while the daughter, aged about 17, had both the bones in one of her limbs broken. We learn that the recovery of Mrs. Troutman is doubtful. and that the daughter is suffering intensely. In this sad misfortune the captain has our heartfelt sympathy. -SENTINEL.

We have it from a very reliable source that the bridge over the Tippecanoe river, near Mr. FRANK LEITER's and commonly known as the GERMANY BRIDGE, had its foundation swept from under it and fell into the water one day last week ... What is remarkable about the story is that a boy about 14 years of age was crossing the bridge at the time the structure gave way. He had been sent by his parents to the store of Mr. WALTER's near by ... He was not injured beyond a good wetting . . . -SENTINEL

DROWNED IN THE WABASH. Last Monday evening, at 9 o'clock, JOHN LOHSON, a German, aged 23 years, was drowned in the Wabash at Peru. Deceased was in bathing with a companion, and fell out of a boat backwards. Being unable to swim he was drowned in fifteen feet of water. He was a native of the Kingdom of Hanover, and a relative of FRED FROMM, of this place. He came to this country in 1867, and lived in Rochester until about three months ago. His remains were brought to this place for interment, and were attended to the grave by a large concourse of his fellow-countrymen. The corpse was prepared for burial by Mr. FROMM. and his distant friends may rest assured that the ashes of their kinsman were committed to earth with every semblance of respect and in due conformity with the rites of Christianity. FLETCHER SENTENCED. The cause entitled The State of Indiana vs WILLIAM FLETCHER, occupied the attention of the Circuit Court last week, and was terminated on Saturday night by the jury bringing in a verdict of guilty. The accused was sentenced to two years confinement at hard labor in the penitentiary, and a fine of $23 was assessed against him.

Fletcher's crime was arson. On the night of the 7th of September last, he set fire to a neighbor's wheat stacks ... His motive for the act was revenge. The wheat belonged to JAMES B. GIBBONS, Esq., between whom and Fletcher a feud had arisen in regard to the boundaries of their fences ... The most damaging testimony was furnished by the defence itself, at a trial before a Justice of the Peace, wherein Fletcher sued a certain attorney to recover a fee which he swore he had paid for the purpose of bribing the Grand Jury not to find a bill against him.

In the trial the State was represented by Messrs. ESSICK and STURGEON; the defence by Messrs. SHRYOCK, JAMISON and DARNELL...

MALBEFF ACQUITTED. -JO. MALBEFF, accused of burglariously entering a freight car on the track of the I. P. & C. R.R., was tried and acquitted in the Circuit Court, yesterday. He was defended by Hon. ED. CALKINS, who exhausted the vocabulary of the Farmers' Grange in denunciation of railroad monopolies.

ASHTON'S FOUNDRY BURNED. -On Friday night last, at or near 10 o'clock, flames were discovered issuing from ASHTON'S FOUNDRY, and soon the entire structure was enveloped in fire. Our citizens rallied in great strength, but were powerless to stay the progress of the destroying element, but rendered valuable service in saving other buildings from a like fate. The books of the establishment, and those of the Justice's office adjoining, were rescued, as was also a valuable lathe - the latter in a somewhat damaged condition.

The loss falls heavily upon Mr. Ashton, who is a young man, and had recently purchased the foundry of F. GILMAN, Esq. It is also a blow upon the prospects of Rochester, but one that will be happily turned aside, we trust. The actual money loss is about $5,000. not a dollar of which was covered by insurance. We learn that Mr. Ashton intends to resume business if he can obtain the necessary power and room, but that he does not see his way clear to rebuild immediately. If our citizens were disposed to share the loss with him, he would doubtless at once proceed to the erection of new and more commodious shops. A brick-walled and fire-proof roofed establishment should take the place of the wooden structure destroyed, and the loss of Friday night could be made up by the profits arising from a more extensive business.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY. -JACOB LEITER, a wealthy farmer living about nine miles north-west of Rochester, recently lost several sheep by the ravages of dogs. ... he spread poison on one of the carvases ... Among the number that ate the poison was a valuable Newfoundland dog belonging to a man named LOUDERBECK, a tenant living on the farm of JNO. NAFE, Sen. Louderback swore revenge... Leiter is a small, weakly man, with one hand disabled and nearly useless ... quarrel ... Leiter was severely but not permanently injured ... trial last Monday in Circuit Court ... Jury verdict fine of $30 and costs... against Louderback. The defendant is a poor man, and the above punishment was reckoned sufficiently heavy for the offence of which he was found guilty.

HARRY EDWARDS, the young man who robbed Wolf's Jewelry Store, was tried for the offence, in the Fulton Circuit Court, last Tuesday. He was found guilty of grand larceny, and sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the penitentiary. Accused was ably defended by JACOB S. SLICK, Esq...

ROCHESTER UNION SPY, Thursday, July 3, 1873

TREATMENT OF THE INSANE. -Only the other day we sat and listened to a recital that fell from the lips of MARK MOORE, Esq., the keeper of the COUNTY ASYLUM, that convinced us that a reform in this particular is needed in that institution...

It seems that there are three insane men at the County Asylum who have been pronounced incurable. Their names are LAWRENCE, SMITH and BOWMAN. The two latter are sometimes violent and have to be confined. The confinement takes place in a narrow apartment containing but one window and a door, the latter opening into another room, and both barred with iron. Nor is this all. Corporal punishment is sometimes inflicted on the insane. Smith tells a disgusting story, the details of which are too shocking for publication. Some months ago Moore ordered him not to repeat it, but Smith persisted, whereupon the keeper threw a stick at him, the end of which struck the ceiling, knocking off a piece of plastering. Smith was very much terrified at this exhibition of wrath, and exclaimed: "You wouldn't kill me! would you?" "Yes," said Moore. "I would as soon kill you as not. I would like the job of burying you this morning." ... Smith... recently got into a quarrel with Bowman, when the latter raised a chair to brain him. Moore rushed between the crazy pair, and ordered Bowman to his room. The command was duly obeyed, but Smith was not so easily quelled, and insisted that Bowman ought to be killed, accusing the keeper of cowardice for not killing him. The taunt, though coming from a lunatic, incensed Moore highly, and he ordered his wife to bring him a horsewhip, and then and there he flogged the poor wretch severely.

It must be remembered that this is not hearsay, but a confession voluntarily made by the man who inflicted this cruel, unlawful and unwarrantable punishment upon a helpless lunatic. ... (Moore) did not seem to feel that he had done wrong, but told the story of his severity rather boastinglv.....

RAILROAD PROSPECTS. We would be glad to adopt the hopeful tone of the SENTINEL in regard to railroad prospects, but fear that it is not best to be too confident. Of one thing, however, we are certain - - that is that the present year will witness the final location of the line of the CHICAGO & ATLANTIC RAILROAD in and through Fulton county, but whether that line will touch Rochester is an open question. A straight line from Huntington to Chicago would cross the I. P. & C. north of this place, and the people along that route are working like beavers for the road. ... It seems to us that some plan might be adopted to transfer the donation voted to the CONTINENTAL to the Atlantic & Chicago, or put it in such a shape that the first road that reaches Rochester may claim it...

DIED. -Last Sunday brought deep sorrow to the hearts of many persons. The Angel of Death spread his dusky wings over a little family group of two, a soul took its flight.. and the bride of eighteen months-ago now lies speechless and cold in her grave. Mrs. MAGGIE ORR, wife of CHAS. ORR. and daughter of Mr. JOHN McBRIDE, a lady well and favorably known, and highly esteemed for her amiable disposition and goodness of heart, departed this life about 2 o'clock
Sunday afternoon. Friday night last she retired to her bed in usual health and spirits, but awoke
Saturday morning screaming, and went into spasms, a number of which followed in quick succession. From this time on her sufferings became intense. She never spoke or recognized a friend after the first attack. Her tongue was dreadfully lacerated in the throes of her spasmodic moments, and so much swollen and distended that it protruded from her mouth, and the only way that medicine could be given to her was by opening the skin and inserting it with an instrument. It may not be improper to say that Mrs. Orr was an expectant mother, and that the period of confinement could not have been more than six weeks or two months removed. As a dernier resort, and with the hope that her life might be saved, instruments were used, but without avail. The grief-stricken relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of the public in the bereavement which has befallen them The deceased was a member of the Presbyterian church.

HORRIBLE DEATH - PROBABLE SUICIDE. - On Friday last a woman named MARGARET WALTZ, the wife of a tenant on the farm of SEBASTIAN GOSS, Esq., in Liberty township, met her death in the following horrible manner. About 9 p.m., she lighted a shaving, with which to start a fire in the cook stove, and the flame communicated itself to her clothing, which was soon in a blaze. She ran around the house a time or two, stopping at the swill barrel, where one of the children threw water upon her till the flames were extinguished. The woman then went to the well, and lowered herself to the bottom, where she drowned in four feet of water... Her husband was in town at the time, attending Queen's Circus, and the story of the disaster is gathered from the statements of two little girls, children of the deceased, aged respectively 8 and 5 years. They say that their mother, after the fire was put out and while standing in the gum that forms the well-curb, told them to go into the house and lay down. They obeyed her, and went to sleep, awaking in the afternoon, when they informed a neighbor of what had happened....

The husband, whose name is JAMES WALTZ, did not return home until after dark. He seemed greatly shocked when informed of the calamity that had befallen his wife, but said that he had been expecting something of the kind. On the Sunday previous his wife had asked him to throw her into the well and end her miseries ... The family were quite poor, and the wife rather simple minded.

ROCHESTER UNION SPY, Thursday, September 11, 1873

SUICIDE OF THE REV. WILEY P. WATKINS. -People who lived in Rochester during the years 1856-7 will remember Rev. W. P. WATKINS, then pastor of the M.E. Church at this place. He was known as a good man of pleasant manners, but subject at times to fits of deep mental dejection.

On Tuesday night of last week, at Waterloo, Iowa, he drowned himself in the Cedar River. He was pastor of the M.E. Church at the place named. His wife was dangerously ill, and this is supposed to have depressed and deranged his mind, and led to the fatal step. He left the following letter to his wife: "..... Tell JIMMIE to be a good boy. All the money I had I gave to CLARENCE just before I went to the river..."

SUDDEN DEATH . -DIED- On Tuesday morning, Sept. 9th., at the residence of her parents, one mile south of Rochester, of cerebro spinal meningitis, DORA, daughter of THOMAS and LEVINA NEWHOUSE, aged seven years.

The death of this little girl illustrates the awful suddenness with which the above-named disease seizes its victims. She attended school on Monday, and started home, at 4:30 p.m., in apparent good health. When she passed the residence of Dr. BRACKETT, one-fourth of a mile from home, she spoke to a man who addressed her, and at that time seemed as well as usual, yet when she reached home, such was the swift progress of the disease, she was speechless. Her death occurred next morning about 9 o'clock.

OBITUARY. -We have been unable to gather full particulars touching the life and career of the late YOUNG RALSTIN, Esq. This much we have learned, that he was raised on Eel River, near what is now called Stockwell, then Goudytown, where he married Miss ELIZA GOUDY, daughter of the place. He settled in this county, on the farm where he died, in 1837, purchasing the land of Mr. WILEY, father of the Wiley brothers of this vicinity. Here he labored and prospered as a farmer, his gains being augmented by the pursuit of tavern-keeping, which he followed for a number of years. He was known far and wide as a genial host and a pleasant companion, while his house gained a reputation co-extensive with Northern Indiana. He was everybody's friend, and had not an enemy in the world that we know of. The aged respected him as a worthy citizen, and the young liked him for his fun-loving and hospitable disposition. He was the picture of health, and was the possessor of a robust frame and an iron constitution. Yet his death was terribly sudden, and should be a warning to all who are without preparation for the grave. He leaves a stricken family, and a wide circle of friends and relations to mourn his loss.

GOULD... ERNSPERGER, JACKSON & CO. ... She was permitted to go home, and there the matter will rest, we presume, until the next session of the grand jury.

The fair culprit is respectably connected, and has hitherto borne a good character. The same remark will apply to her husband, for whom much sympathy is felt in this hour of grief and trial ... Her husband, if still disposed to cling to her, should take advantage of the law's delay, and strike out for a new country, where his wife's crimes are unknown, and where repentance and forgetfulness may wipe out the stigma on her name.

ALLEGED ARSON. ... Ever since the burning of KELLY & RHINEHART's FLAX FACTORY, last winter, there has been a suspicion lurking in the minds of our citizens that the deed was committed by hired incendiaries The proprietors were both absent from town at the time, but made their appearance shortly after the fire and claimed the insurance money... The insurance agents, DOWNEY & JONES, resisted the claim, and began searching for evidence of incendiarism. KELLY & RHINERART, on the other hand, began suit against the Phoenix Insurance Co., for the amount of the policy Matters stood as above until a few days ago, when it began to be whispered around that the insurance agents had proof that the flax mill was set on fire. On yesterday two men, named FRANKLIN DOWNS and ORRIN TUTTLE, appeared before Esq. ASHTON., and confessed that they had applied the torch. Their story is that they, together with a man named DAVIS, were hired by Rhinehart to fire the mill, the consideration being a watch and $50 in money. Downs and Davis divided the money, and Tuttle kept the watch which he sold for $10 to ASA MITCHELL, Esq., in whose possession it now is ... Rhinehart will be arrested and brought hither as soon as his whereabouts are ascertained.

ROCHESTER UNION SPY, Thursday, October 16, 1873

The UNION SPY published every Thursday by T. MAJOR BITTERS, office up stairs in the Beeber Block, corner south of the Court House...

With this week's issue of the SPY, our neighbor, WM. H. MATTINGLY, who has presided over the columns of that paper for five years or more as editor-in-chief, says good-bye to his readers, and retires from the chair editorial. We regret that the pleasant relations which have ever existed between us as competitors in the newspaper business are to be interrupted by his withdrawal. ... T. MAJOR BITTERS, late foreman of the PERU REPUBLICAN office, succeeds to the proprietorship of the SPY. He is our brother, a few years our senior, and may be put on the "heavy editors" list, his weight being over 200 lbs avoirdupois. It is a singular circumstance in journalism, and one not often happening, that brothers are pitted against each other in the publication of opposition papers in the same town. Mr. BITTERS is a party man of the Republican persuasion, and as such will advocate the principles of the party to which he belongs. Peculiarly we wish the new editor all merited success, but in politics we will use our best efforts to defeat the rise to power in this county of the party which he represents. -ROCHESTER SENTINEL.

DIED. -At the residence of G. W. ROBBINS, Esq., near Berlin, Clinton county, Indiana, on the 25th day of September, 1873, JOIES ROBBINS, aged 84 years, 18 months and 18 days.

The subject of this member was born in Randolph county, North Carolina, January 7, 1789. He was married August 9th, 1810, to MIRIAM DAVIS, who all life long was a worthy and estimable woman, and preceded him only a little over four years to the Unknown Land.

With a family of three children, in the year 1816, he emigrated to the State of Indiana, and settled on White Water, 7 miles below Richmond, in Wayne county; was one of the pioneers of this rich and populous county; he felled the tall sugar, beech, and buckeye, and planted, sowed and reaped while the cities of Richmond and Indianapolis were roamed over by the Indian and panther; he hauled with his team the first load of goods ever sold in Centreville. In 1838 he again emigrated and settled in Fulton county, Indiana, 6 miles east of Rochester, when said county had less than 100 inhabitants. He entered 400 acres of land in Henry township, and remained a citizen of the same until the year 1864, when he sold his farm and has been living with his three sons since that time.

Five out of his nine children, with the companion of his youth, preceded him to that land "beyond Death's dark river," and all are buried in Fulton county. The weight of years and affliction had been bearing heavily upon him for two or three years, and on the 20th of September he was taken with cholera morbus, which ended his sufferings at about 4 o'clock, September 25th. He was buried near Hillsborough, on the evening of September 30th.

He was one of those industrious, thorough-going, independent men, that always have enemies but never regard them. His death was characteristic of his whole life, and when he saw his friends gathering about his bed, he seemed at once to realize that he was passing away. He placed one hand upon his wrist to examine the state of his circulation, and finding that he had none, he handed a fan he had been using to his son, crossed his hands upon his breast, closed his eyes and lips and breathed his last so calmly that his friends could not tell the exact moment.

He had been a member of the M.E. Church for nearly 50 years, and, as was said of his brother, the Rev. HARLAN ROBBINS (,who fell at his post in 1840), he had not conferred with flesh and blood, for the faith that supported him through life did not fail him in death.

OBITUARY. -On Friday Oct 24th Mrs. LAURA L. ROBBINS departed this life in the 40th year of her age.

She came to Rochester immediately upon her marriage with ALVIN ROBBINS (her now bereaved husband), April 15th, 1851, and has since resided in the place.

She embraced religion and united with the M.E. Church at the age of 13 years, and has lived since that time a faithful and constant christian. Sprightly and earnest in her disposition she was awake to all the interests of the church, and was deeply devoted to the Sabbath School work.

Her attachments were naturally very strong, and in relation to her family she was a devoted wife and mother. A daughter and little son with the husband and four affectionate sisters mourn her loss.

The sweetness of the Gospel hope is mingled with their sorrow, and through the blinding, tears, they may see the brightness of the future as with her, they awake in the likeness of the Master.

A large circle of friends tender their heartfelt sympathies. We weep and hope together. - Rev. C. SKINNER.

MEMORIAL. -REBECCA SMITH, the subject of this memorial.. was born in Scotland, in the year 1789 or 1790. and so had reached the great age of 83 or 84 years. Her maiden name was IRVIN. She was married to ROBERT SMITH. After residing a short time in Scotland, they removed to North Ireland, probably to escape the religious intolerance which was then making an effort to crush the life of Presbyterian Scotland.

Mother Smith has stated to her daughter repeatedly, that she had lived in constant fear, that her husband would be apprehended for his opinions, and thus fall a victim to the bigotry of his age. They resided in Ireland only a few years, when they concluded to emigrate to America. Accompanied by a brother of Mrs. Smith and their two children, they came to Quebec, landing there fifty-two years ago. since which she has resided for a brief period at Salina and Jordan, in the State of New York; also Ohio, Cincinnati, Iowa and Indiana. Most of her life, since coming to this continent, has been spent in this State. She resided in Logansport 26 or 27 years, and came to this place last Monday to make this her last earthly residence.

Her life has been made up of a great diversity of experience. She buried her husband forty-one years ago, since which time she has had life's struggles and burdens to bear alone. She has wept compassionately by the side of the resting places of three of her children and now leaves two to embalm her memory in their hearts. More than once has she been apparently very near the journey's end. I think we may say, possibly, her life has been eventful,... She united with the church when she was but a mere child, only twelve years old....

In her younger days she was a member of the Seceder Church, but coming to Logansport she united with the 1st Presbyterian Church of that place, which has been her home ever since. ... For years she has been unable to attend the means of grace, by reason of her infirmity.... She has been waiting for the call of the Master, and praying that he might come. And he did come Thursday at midnight. -Rev. F. M. ELLIOTT.

A HISTORY OF MT ZION CHURCH. -The METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH established an organization in this community about 35 years ago. The organization continued with various successes until about one year ago, ... it was discontinued. The last minister serving the M.E. Church was the Rev. R. J. SMITH.... The old church became dilapidated, was taken away about two years ago... The pastor of the Presbyterian church of Rochester, at the solicitation of JOSEPH WHITTENBERGER, commenced preaching for them in December, 1872 ... He poured out his spirit, and over two score were added to the church... These new converts... wanted a home in the church, and in order to so accommodate them a section of Rochester Presbyterian Church was organized March 7, 1873, under the title "Mt Zion Section of Rochester Presbyterian Church." ... The session of Rochester church met in Mt. Zion school house March 7, 1873, and received into the church twenty-two members.

The church remained in this relation up to October 14th, 1873. when, at their own request and consent of Rochester church, Presbytery of Logansport, constituted them an independent organization under the title of "Mt Zion Presbyterian Church." And in this capacity were gathered together to-day in the ceremony of laying the corner stone of a new Temple of worship to stand on the lot formerly occupied by the Mt Zion M.E. Church, but recently transferred to this organization by them. ...

We are also informed that SALATHIEL BROWN's wife is not expected to recover; she is afflicted with the dropsy.

The wife of our worthy P.M., JESSE CARTER, is also very poorly; afflicted with consumption.

THE DEPOT. "It is given as a reason, by the Railroad Company, for not providing better accommodations, that the present buildings are as good as we deserve for the manner in which the County treated them in the payment of the $3,500 appropriated for their use in building the road. Instead of paying the amount as agreed upon, by some technicality they were kept out the use of it for several years, and finally paid only $2,400. The Company still remembers these things against us, and will give us no better buildings until their passion subsides, or they become ashamed of their old rickety depot." -SENTINEL.

...We have it from good authority that the I. P. & C. company contemplated putting up a depot building here this fall, and would have done so had it not been for the panic and the early winter weather, which is an evidence that they entertain no ill feeling towards the people of Fulton county. But we want a depot and shall have one.

ROCHESTER UNION-SPY, Thursdav. December 11, 1873

HISTORY OF LINCOLN, INDIANA

Lincoln is situated on the west side of the I. P. & C. R.R., fifteen miles north of Peru, and nine miles south of Rochester.

This village was laid out in the year of 1859, by GEORGE WILKINSON and A. WILKINSON, both of whom are now as they were then, citizens of this place. The original plat of this village embraced only six and one-half acres, five and one-half of which were surveyed from the farm of GEORGE WILKINSON, and one acre from A. WILKINSON's farm.

The lots were ninety-nine feet square and twenty in number, and the streets were First, Second, Cooper and Main. It was filed for record on the 14th day of June, 1860 ...

Previous to this time, the only building that was ever erected on the site of this town, was a log cabin, and was used by Methodists as a church. ...in course of time, it fell into decay, and all traces of where the building once stood, have been obliterated.

When the town was originally laid out, no one predicted that it would ever become a place of any importance. There was no railroads in this vicinity, nor were there any prospect of one being made through this part of the country.

In order to accommodate the neighboring farmers, GEORGE WILKINSON procured a supply of goods and groceries, W. J. CORDELL a supply of iron, and the necessary tools for blacksmithing, and the little settlement began its career. Some time during the ensuing year, a COOPER SHOP was put in operation by WILLIAM CARVEY, and these formed the only branches of business at this place for several years. The surrounding country was sparsely settled, and the result was, these branches of business failed to be self sustaining, and the proprietors were compelled to suspend operations.

The embryo town was almost deserted until the year of 1868, when the I. P. & C. R.R. being in process of construction, it received a new impetus, and since then the work of improvement has advanced rapidly and steadily.

Some time during the latter part of the month of June, in the year of 1869, the first train of cars on the Indianapolis, Peru and Chicago railroad, passed through the town. It was hailed with delight by the citizens of this place as the harbinger of the good time coming, when they should rank as a town of no mean importance on its line.

The first house that was built in this village after the railroad was completed, was the depot, and was built by the citizens of this place, the railroad company refused to build one on account of their limited means and the insignificance of the town.

During the late war, in 1862, a number of the citizens of this locality formed themselves into a company of what was then called ... LINCOLN HOME GUARDS. Subsequently, the locality was called Lincoln, and has retained this name ever since. When the POST OFFICE was established, it was christened ALLEN in consequence of there being one or two other Lincoln post-offices in the State. Hence the postoffice is Allen and the name of the town Lincoln.

On the 6th day of August, 1869, the services of SAMUEL E. HARKEN (the then county surveyor) were called into requisition, who surveyed and reversed [sic] the original plat, and a description of it was filed for record on the 9th day of August, 1869. On the same day, a plat of a new addition by GEORGE WILKINSON and J. M. POWELL, embracing fifteen acres was filed for record. This was laid out east of the original plat, and adjoining the railroad. The town went on improving rapidly. The lots of this plat having been sold, another addition became necessary. Accordingly on the 3d day of May, 1873, DAVID ENYART, filed a description of his addition of eight acres, on the west side of the original town.

LOWERY, our pioneer, has no roof on his house yet, nor is there likely to be one unless some energy is instilled into his slow movements. A few boards over one end of the building is the only covering. His wife "went and runned away" a few days ago, and declared that she would no longer share his bed and board, for, as she has it, the bed is mighty thin, and as to the board she thinks she was bored when she married him, has been bored by living with him, and would be bored no longer. His earnest entreaties however, prevailed on her to come back, and she came. And now all is well in Sprinkleburg.

She was converted at the age of twelve years, and leaves bright testimony in her life and in her last hour that Heaven is her home. Her long residence in this community created for her a large circle of friends who deeply mourn her loss, and extend to the family their heartfelt sympathies. Her life was pure, peaceable and happy, and all who knew her loved and esteemed her as a worthy friend. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. SKINNER.

-In this city, November 23, 1873, Mrs. MARY J. DAWSON, aged 34 years, 8 months and 7 days.

Mrs. Dawson was born in Piqua, Ohio, March 16, 1839, and was married to her now bereaved husband, Mr. M. J. DAWSON, September 20, 1857, in Tippecanoe county, Indiana. She united with the United Brethren church when but fifteen years old, and has since that time lived a devoted Christian life. Always peaceable and kind towards all, she was beloved by all who knew her, and she leaves a vacancy in her family that can be filled by none other. She died as she had lived, full of faith and hope of an abundant entrance into the kingdom of rest. She passed away in her right mind, fully aware of all her surroundings, leaving a will which disposes of her property according to her wish.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. SKINNER, and the remains were laid away in the Odd Fellows Cemetery, near this place.

RICHLAND ITEMS

Richland should occupy a prominent position in the columns of your paper. It has, like all other townships, a village, viz: STRINGTOWN, which is the second town in length in the county, being one mile and a half long. It contains a saw mill formerly owned by YOUNG RALSTIN, but at present by heirs. And also a wagon and blacksmith shop run by the ROGERS brothers.

Mr. ELI ROGERS received his PATENT yesterday. It is a corn and plaster dropper.

The SAND HILL school opened the 1st of December with an enrollment of 35. The teacher, JEFFERSON ROBBINS, is exciting an interest in all.

REVIEW OF ROCHESTER

HEFFLEY'S WAGON AND CARRIAGE FACTORY.... Mr. Heffley commenced here several years ago, and by industry, frugality and enterprise has worked his way up from a small beginning to the fourth wagon manufactory in size and importance in northern Indiana.

Four large buildings are now used... wood work and paint shop, two stories; the blacksmith and trimming department, two stories; and two large out buildings used for the storage of seasoned lumber, spokes, &c., and for completed farm wagons on exhibition and for sale.

... The principal business is the manufacture of farm and lumber wagons, and yet a large number of fine carriages, buggies, spring wagons, sleighs, sleds, &c., are turned off annually.... The $500 Lancaster Phaeton, lately turned out for Mr. FRED FROMM may be considered a fair sample of the fine carriage work done at this establishment.

... nearly all the workmen employed at this establishment served their apprenticeship in Europe...

M. O. REES FURNITURE DEALER AND MANUFACTURER. .. His rooms are on Main street, east side, first door north of Shields dry goods store.... Bedsteads, bureaus, chairs, lounges, sofas, center tables, extension tables, wash stands, what-nots, cupboards, safes, brackets, dining tables, marble top tables, mattresses, bed-springs, looking glasses, picture frames, mouldings, secretaries, library cases, wardrobes. and coffins of all styles, kinds and prices... Mr. Rees has now about two thousand dollars worth of furniture on hand...

They are occupying a large spacious building in the north-west part of the village. They manufacture wagons, buggies, sleighs, and in fact everything in their line of business. In addition to their wagon business they carry on blacksmithing in all its various branches ...

He also keeps on hand coffins of all styles, prices and sizes, and will deliver coffins if desired.

C. S. HORTON'S BLACKSMITH SHOP. -Mr. Horton is a young hand at the business, but notwithstanding this, he has thoroughly learned his trade, and is an excellent workman.... He has in his employ one of the most efficient horseshoers that has ever worked in this town. In addition to blacksmithing Mr. Horton is prepared to manufacture all kinds of edge tools, and will repair the same on short notice. Mr. Horton is an enterprising young man and is certainly deserving of success.

KEWANNA GOSSIP

Last week was one of the most eventful weeks in the history of Kewanna. On Monday the fuss between Mr. STREET and I. ZUCK occurred, which we hinted at last week, but now feel more at liberty to expose, as it is no more a secret here. SAMUEL ZUCK, of the firm of ZUCK, STREET & CO., was killed by the premature discharge of a cannon, on the 4th of July, 1872. I. ZUCK, brother to deceased, succeeded him, and being a young single man, boarded with Mr. Street, his brother-in-law. So all passed off well, until two weeks ago he moved his bed and board to the Hotel. On Monday following, Mr. Street told him he would give him just twenty-four hours to leave the state or he would take the law on him. Obedient to the command, he left immediately, for parts unknown. He was accused for a desire to form too close an intimacy with Miss STREET, his niece. The Mill is now for sale, and several parties have been figuring heavy on it. Mr. A. T. JACKSON came within a few hundred of getting it....

On the same day LEW MILLS (threatened) Doc WHITE, who had a few days previous "raised a club" [and threatened the former] ... Doc White was fined...

S. & W. ZELLERS bought the blacksmith shop that Mr. HEIMBERGER worked in for $450, thereby leaving no vacant place for Mr. H. to work.

DIED. -On last Sabbath morning, THOMAS WILSON, of that slow, but horrid disease, Consumption. The deceased was a promising young man, of more than ordinary talents, and was well liked by all his associates. We could not attend the funeral, sorry to say, but are informed that it was very largely attended, thus manifesting the sympathy of the public feeling. He leaves both parents, three brothers and two sisters, to mourn his untimely loss. Did not learn his age, but presume it was about 28 or 30 years.

A sad case of drowning occurred in the Tippecanoe river near Tippecanoe town on Saturday evening last. Mr. HENRY C. MONTGOMERY, after the labor of the week was over, in company with a comrade or two, went to the river to engage in fishing. While thus engaged, the hook with which Montgomery was fishing got caught on something on the bed of the river, and rather than lose it, being an expert diver, he divested himself of his clothing and dived down into the water, a depth of ten feet for the purpose of disengaging it. Strange to say he never rose again until recovered by his friends - a corpse. What is still more remarkable, no water was found in the body, which demonstrated the fact that he was seized with a cramp and died without strangulation. The deceased was a man of about thirty years of age, and leaves a wife and two children. He was a member of the Odd Fellows fraternity, and by them was buried on Monday, a large concourse of mourning friends and relatives following in sorrow his remains to the grave.

DIED. -June 6th, 1873, Mrs. MARGRET MURPHY, daughter of A. T. JACKSON, aged 24 years. The funeral services were conducted by E. M. McGRAW at the M.E. Church on last Saturday at 10 o'clock a.m. Mrs. Murphy was a member of the Baptist church, and a kind and affectionate companion, a Christian mother, and kind neighbor, much loved and esteemed by all who knew her. Her loss is deeply felt by a dear husband and many mourning friends. She seemed to have presentiment of her death for some time past and talked to her friends about it; but they thought it was only a spirit of despondency, and tried to relieve her mind of such thoughts, but could not. Previous to her death she gave her two children, an infant child and a little boy, to her sister, talked to her friends of her hope in Christ, and then calmly resigned herself to her fate in the hands of a just God... -ELI LEITER.

LEITER FAMILY REUNION at Bellevue, Ohio, May 16th, 1873. Eight Orphan Children.

JOHN LEITER, Sen, was born in Pennsylvania, Jan. 2d , 1784. His wife BARBARA WHITMORE, was born in the same year, and both died in the same year, leaving eight orphan children.

THE CHILDREN. -ELIZABETH was born April 4th, 1808, was married to Mr. JACOB BURM, and now lives in Bellevue, Ohio. She is the mother of five children, has had thirty-nine grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. BARBARA was born December 4th, 1809, and lived to be what might be termed a very old maid, but being tired of living a single life, and having "no one to love her, and none to caress," she married a Mr. SPICHER in the 57th year of her age. She now lives in Pennsvlvania. ABRAHAM was born April 6th, 1812, and now lives in Bellevue, Ohio. He is a tanner by trade, and as a tradesman, perhaps far excells the President of the United States. He has occupied stations of honor, and at present is Mayor of the city in which he lives. He is the father of twelve children and fifteen grandchildren. JOHN was born October 25th, 1813. He moved to this state in 1845, where he has lived ever since. He is well known to most of the readers of the SENTINEL, and of his life and honors we need not speak. He is the father of fifteen children, and six grandchildren. MARY was born September 15th, 1815, and now lives in Seneca county, Ohio. She is married to Mr. DAVID ARNOLD, and is the mother of ten children. MATTIE was born July 23d, 1817; was married to Mr. ISAAC SHELLENBERGER, and now lives near Kingston, DeKalb county, Ills. She is the mother of nine children and six grandchildren. ANNA was born April 6th, 1820, was married to a Mr. BASEOVER who is now dead, and she was married a second time to Mr. MYERS, and now lives in Pennsylvania. She is the mother of 8 children and 3 grandchildren. JACOB was born Feb. 4th, 1824, being the youngest of the family. He now resides in this county, where he is well known by many citizens of the same. He is the father of fifteen children.

The family of eight children now live in four different states, two in Pennsylvania, three in Ohio, two in Indiana and one in Illinois. Previous to their meeting on the 16th and 17th of May, they had not all met at one time for forty-five years. The aggregate of their ages at the time of the family meeting, was 465 years, making an average of 58 years. We cannot say that they are enjoying good health, but for a family of that age and number, we might consider it exceedingly good. They are all in good circumstances in life, being worth from five to twenty-five thousand dollars each, but what is far better, they have all sustained good characters, and none have formed a taste for strong drinks, and but one uses tobacco in any form. This family of eight and their companions, and children, sixty-nine in number, seventy-five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren, comprise the Leiter family, making in all 164 including the number that are now sleeping in the grave.-ELI LEITER.

Another sad case of drowning occurred in the Tippecanoe river last Sunday afternoon at about 2 o'clock. Quite a number of town boys, one of the number being WARREN GILMAN, for a little recreation, strolled out to the river, and while there engaged in the pleasant pastime of bathing. Warren was the oldest and largest of the number and was not an expert swimmer. Once in the current he was carried beyond his depth, and was drowned, notwithstanding his loud cries to his companions for help, who, horrified at the impending fate of their companion, were rendered unfit to aid him. A number of fishermen some distance away, hearing the cries of distress, hastened to the rescue, but too late - he had gone down to rise no more. The sad intelligence was immediately conveyed to the bereaved father, who, in company with Dr. P. ROWDEN, repaired to the scene. He had, however, before their arrival, been recovered from the water and every effort was made for his resuscitation, but the spark of life had fled, and Warren Gilman's name was added to the already long list of Tippecanoe's victims. He was 15 years, and 9 months old, and a very exemplary young man. He was an especial favorite among his associates and the pride and hope of his father. He had for many months been punctual in his attendance at Sabbath school and was not given to Sabbath desecration. His funeral took place from the residence of his father on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the large attendance attested the sympathy of the community for the grief stricken family.

ADAM NETCHER, one of the old residents of this township, was arrested some months ago on an affidavit filed by his wife charging him with assault and battery.... In default of a bondsman he was committed to jail from whence he made his escape and evaded the vigilance of Sheriff MOON until Wednesday of this week. Learning of his being at Wabash, Mr. Moon, quietly proceeded there and "took him in," and now has him again behind bars. The county has already been at considerable expense over a matter of but small importance, and the general wish of the people was that Adam would steer clear of Fulton county.

JOHN LOSHON, a German and cousin of our fellow-townsmen, FRED FROMM was drowned in the Wabash river at Peru on Monday evening last. The deceased was a young man and had been a resident of Rochester for some years prior to his removal to Peru three months since to engage in work at the Howe Sewing Machine factory. On the evening mentioned, he went with a friend to the river to bathe, fell into deep water and was drowned. As soon as his German friends of this place heard of his decease, a goodly number of them proceeded there and had his remains brought to this place for interment. Our German friends are a hospitable people, and every possible mark of respect was paid the deceased in his burial.

ROCHESTER SENTINEL, Saturday, June 28, 1873

On Tuesday of last week the case of the State of Indiana vs WM. FLETCHER was called for trial ... The trial consumed the time of the court during the week and was determined late on Saturday night, by a verdict of the jury of guilty. He was fined $25 and sentenced to two years hard labor in the Penitentiary ... Mr. Fletcher is a man probably about 50 years old, and the infliction of two years servitude upon a man of his age, awakens a feeling of sympathy for him, notwithstanding the enormity of his crime.

KILLED BY THE TRAIN. The mangled remains of two young men aged 18 years each and named respectively HENRY BROMME and GEORGE MECHLING, both residents of Richland township, of this county, were found on Sunday morning on the track of the Indianapolis, Peru & Chicago railway. It is said that one of the young men had been in town on Saturday afternoon and had been drinking heavily. He returned home in the evening, and thence in the company of his unfortunate companion, went to the town of Walnut, where they both indulged freely for some time, after which each supplied himself with bottle of whiskey, and started south on the track very much intoxicated. When within a half a mile of Miller's station, it is supposed they laid down upon the track, where the northern bound freight train passed over their bodies. The engineer discovered an object on the track, but not in time to stop the train. As soon as possible after the bodies were discovered, a jury was impanelled and an inquest held which resulted in a verdict that death was caused by the locomotive and train above named, and exonerating the company from all blame. Our Sturgeon correspondent has stated the facts more in detail, and to his communication the reader is referred for particulars. It is, perhaps, useless to moralize upon this sad event, as a recital of the facts points to the lesson ...

Last Sunday afternoon one Mr. McBRIDE was making a pleasant call upon his son-in-law, Mr. HENRY MILLER, at the residence of one J. S. TAYLOR, just north of the town. While he and Mr. Miller were quietly seated, conversing, a tree near which they were was struck by lightning. The current passing down the stem, struck Mr. McBride midway between the knee and the ankle, coursing downward, passing diagonally across the foot, making a complete wreck of the boot, and so stunning him as to render him insensible for several hours. He however revived during the day and at last accounts was in a fair way to recover. Mr. Miller who was with him, was also seriously shocked, but sustained no particular injury beyond a temporary fright...

About the same time the residence of JOHN O'CONNELL, in Green township, Marshall county, was struck... The house was ignited by the current, but Mrs. O'CONNELL recovered in time to extinguish the flames, so that no damage was done beyond the shattering of two walls.

STURGEON, IND, June 29th, 1873

Last evening about 9 o'clock, two young men named GEORGE MECHLING and HENRY BROMM, each aged 18 years, purchased some whiskey at CLINT. NOLAN's saloon, in Walnut, Marshall county, and then started for home. They traveled on the I. P. & C. R.R. a distance of half a mile south of Miller's station, where they sat down and fell into a sleep caused by intoxication. The northern bound freight train passed that place about midnight, running over the boys, severed the body of Henry Bromm at the waist, and cut off a leg and an arm of George Mechling, and otherwise mangled his body. The engineer saw a white object on the track, but supposed it to be a white fowl of some kind, until the person was struck by the cowcatcher, and then the body was recognized and the train stopped. Some citizens at Tiosa were called to take charge of the bodies, and requested to display a light to mark the spot and prevent the south bound train from moving the bodies until a coroner could be brought, but just before the train arrived, the light went out and the train passed without a signal, moving one of the bodies about six feet without changing its condition. Information was received this morning that D. W. JONES, our coroner elect had neglected to qualify. W. T. LEONARD, J.P., was then summoned, who upon arrival, caused a jury of fifteen men to be summoned, who, upon hearing the evidence, and an examination of the bodies, returned their verdict as above stated. A broken bottle was found in the pocket of each person, which satisfied the jury and all present that whiskey was the original cause of these two sudden deaths. It is hoped the brothers and associates of these two young men may see the error of their way and repent before it is everlastingly too late. The burial took place this evening at 4 o'clock, at the Lutheran grave yard, Richland township. Two broken hearted mothers have the sympathy of the entire neighborhood.

The three males, HENRY BOWMAN, CHARLES SMITH and ANDREW LAWRENCE, have all been pronounced incurably insane, and for their own good and safety, and that of others, they have been confined in comfortable and commodious quarters ... We do not approve of corporal punishment in the treatment of the insane, yet the scathing remarks of our neighbor in last week's Spy, in relation to the treatment by Mr. Moore of the paupers under his control, leaving the reader to infer that he is excessively cruel to them, is not a fair statement of the facts.

The past has been a very notable week for the punishment of crime, and our only justice, WM. REES, smiles placidly as he mentally calculates the costs accruing, while Constable STILES chuckles inwardly at the increased emoluments of his office. Monday morning at 10 o'clock the gray haired Justice takes the bench and having carefully adjusted his glasses, announces that the first case for trial is the State of Indiana vs VIRGIL POWELL, JOSIAH POWELL and WM. POWELL, Jr. This is a trial for the indecent exposure of their persons by the defendants while bathing in Fletcher's Lake. The defendants are all residents of Cass county, but sought the waters of Fulton to perform their diurnal ablutions. They appear by WM., Sr., and JEPHTHA POWELL and move for separate trials. Josiah is now placed upon his trial and with a jury of ten good and lawful men, the fight commences and continues until the jury returned into court the following verdict: "We find the defendant guilty as charged, and assess his fine at $20." When the costs are added we have the good, round sum of $68.98. When we consider that bathing is the purest exercise of health and the thermometer 99 in the shade, the price is certainly not exorbitant. Josiah having gone through the ordeal and being displeased with the result of the trial, now prays for an appeal to the circuit court and files the proper bond.

VIRGIL warned by the fate of his brother, pleads guilty and is ordered to pay a fine of ten dollars, which with the costs makes his obligation $31.48.

And now the attorneys for the defendants become discouraged, a thing which it is supposed they never did before, and upon full consultation, advise WM., Jr., to do as his brother Virgil did, and upon a plea of guilty, he finds his bills payable augmented by $31.18.

Then followed the case of WILLIAM POWELL, Sen... attempting to provoke one JESSE JULIAN to commit an assault and battery. This cause was submitted to a full jury, the evidence and argument heard, resulting in a fine of one dollar, which with costs added, fools up $43.20.

Now comes the state vs VIRGIL POWELL this time for attempting to provoke an assault and battery, and upon his plea of guilty, he is fined $5. Costs added increases his indebtedness to $40.

The Powell family will leave in all $215.14 with the justice. Bathing is a costly but a healthful exercise.

WM. WHITEFORD was arrested and fined five dollars for drunkenness on plea of guilty. He now owes $15.90. In answer to the usual question he informed them that he had procured his liquor at the saloon of JOHN EDWARDS. Edwards was then brought before the court on charge of having sold spirituous liquors to Whiteford, a person in the habit of becoming intoxicated. The trial was submitted to the court on the statement made by Whiteford on his own trial, and the defendant was fined $5 and costs, in all $14.45.

In the case of the town of Rochester vs SAMUEL FARNER, on charge of "Drunk and Disorderly," the defendant was fined seven dollars and ninety cents, and upon failing to replevy, he was committed to jail. His wife afterward found a kindred spirit, the judgment was replevied and Sam now breathes the pure air of heaven, of which there is at present but a small quantity.

BUTLER REIMENSCHNEIDER was arrested and brought before his Honor, for fast driving on Main street, contrary to ordinance. He came down with two dollars and eighty cents.

On Wednesday night one ROBT. JALLEY was arrested for drunk and disorderly, was found indebted in the sum of four dollars and fifty cents, and failing to pay or replevy the judgment, was sent to board with Sheriff Moon.

LAFAYETTE NEFF, a boy 12 years old committed an assault and battery on a boy named CHARLES REID, two years his junior, for which he was fined one dollar and costs; in all twelve dollars sixty-five cents. ELIJAH NEFF was fined five dollars and costs for attempting to provoke G. W. REID to commit an assault and battery. He owes twenty dollars.

The cases of the State vs RUTH REID and the State vs CHAS. REID, attempt to provoke an assault, were dismissed.

He was a faithful soldier, and though a cripple by reason of the wounds received while in the line of duty, he struggled manfully against the waves of adversity, and by honesty, industry and frugality, he lived comfortably in the bosom of his little family, who mourn his loss, and will cherish his memory for his faithfulness and valor in all things.

DIED. -July 18th, JOHN LEITER, aged 59 years, 8 months and 23 days. The deceased has suffered for many years with a severe cough, which finally resulted in consumption and death. He was born in Union county, Penn., October 25th, 1813, and lived with his parents until their death in 1828, leaving him with seven brothers and sisters upon the cold charities of the world, to provide for themselves. A few years after the death of his parents, he moved to Seneca county, Ohio, where he was married to Miss SARAH BARGER, living in peace and quietude until the fall of 1845 when, with a family of six children, a few hundred dollars and his team, he emigrated to this county, where he has lived ever since.

He bought land and settled on the south bank of the Tippecanoe river, where he commenced the work of clearing up a farm and farming, which occupation he has continued ever since. With honesty, industry and frugality he accumulated property to the amount of twelve or fifteen thousand dollars. During this time he filled the office of Justice of the Peace for many years, was trustee of Aubbeenaubbee township several terms. Being modest and unassuming he never sought an office.

The many years he was a member of the M.E. church, he lived a faithful and consistent Christian life, his loss to the church will be deeply felt. His companion was called from his family and his embrace on the 13th of February, 1851, leaving him in care of a large family, some of which were quite young and required much care from a bereaved father. His companion was buried on his farm, being the commencement of a new grave yard, where the underbrush had to be cleared away to make a road to the grave. Since that time, many bodies have been buried there. And now he lies by her side, the two graves being the first and the last in that yard. What events have transpired since that time! How many have passed away in 22 years! Our country has passed through war and blood-shed, and again peace has passed over our land, but time passes and it all goes to make up history.

He was married a second time to MARTHA KING of this county, who now survives him with a large family of children to mourn his loss. As a neighbor he was kind and obliging and gave much of his money to benevolent purposes, the rich and poor all sharing his hospitality. That he was esteemed and loved was proven by the large number that attended his funeral and bestowed the last kind act that they could upon his remains. The funeral took place from his residence at 10 o'clock on last Sunday morning, conducted by Rev. CLARK SKINNER, Rev. JESSE SPARKS and Rev. A. V. HOUSE. In him we have lost a kind father, a loved neighbor and a good citizen.

ROCHESTER SENTINEL, Saturday, August 2, 1873

SHOCKING TRAGEDY. A Man attempts to Shoot his wife, Shoots his wife's Foster Mother and then Shoots himself.

Not to be behind all other towns and communities of much less note and importance, Rochester and vicinity has, and is enjoying a first-class sensation -- a genuine shooting affair. On Thursday morning a messenger from the scene of blood and carnage arrived in town and reported the fact that CYRUS McCARTER, a son of LAWRENCE McCARTER living three miles northeast from town had attempted to murder his wife, her foster mother and to destroy his own life with a revolver. The fever excitement which appears to have taken hold of the entire community, and the contradictory reports which have been put in circulation in relation to the affair, precludes a very authentic report at this time even from the statements elicited from parties who claim to be thoroughly acquainted with the facts as they occurred. From the best information which we have been able to obtain we learn that the trouble all originated in a little matrimonial infelicity between Cyrus McCarter and ALWILDA, his wife. Cyrus McCarter, as has already been stated, is a son of Lawrence McCarter, a respectable and well-to-do pioneer farmer, and has just attained his majority. His reputation in the community in which he lived is that of an upright and industrious young man.

Alwilda, his wife, was left an orphan in tender years by the death of her father, P. A. MANN who died in this place years ago. At the death of her father she became the ward of the masonic fraternity of this place and by them was placed in charge of Mrs. JAMES WRIGHT a widow woman living in Richland township who adopted her into the family as an own child. She had lived in the family for a period of at least ten years when she became enamored of Cyrus McCarter whom she subsequently married about four months ago. It is but proper for a fair understanding of after events to state here that when the alliance between the two parties was first formed that it was sanctioned and encouraged by the foster mother, Mrs. Wright; but just prior to the consumation of the marriage vows, neighborhood gossip circulated the report that the young man was the victim of venereal disease. This report coming to the ears of Mrs. Wright she directed her best efforts to dissolve the marriage contract, but in this she failed and the couple were joined in wedlock. How much truth there was in the reports about the young man's infirmities, we are unable to state, but at all events the insatiate desire of news mongrels to speak ill of their neighbors failed to be appeased even after they were married and started on life's journey together. With feeling akin to motherly love and devotion, Mrs. Wright prevailed upon her adopted daughter to leave the partner of her joys and sorrows and return to her old home. She did leave her husband and go with Mrs. Wright to her home where she remained for a short time and returned to her husband. In a little while she was again induced to leave her husband and sought the home of her youth.

It is said that these vacillating movements was made a number of times during the four months of their married life and that it was finally ascertained by Mrs. Wright that she was enceinte and was thereupon quickly returned to her husband who received her with outstretched arms and confidently hoped that his trouble in that direction was at an end. Either by accident or design a miscarriage occurred when she was again prevailed upon and again consented to leave her husband and live with her foster mother. Matters had now reached the culminating point and a final separation was agreed upon. A difficulty, however, arose in the division of property. The wife obtained a writ of replevin but the constable could not find the goods. After some parlaying McCarter agreed to surrender the goods and his wife and Mrs. Wright were to come and get them on Thursday, the day on which the tragedy occurred. The whole circumstance of his domestic troubles so preyed upon his mind that he came to town on Wednesday and it is supposed procured a revolver with which to wreak his vengeance upon his wife and Mrs. Wright. The whole of Wednesday night he acted more like an insane or mad man than like a rational being. He was suspicioned of having a weapon concealed upon his person on Wednesday night, but an investigation proved the contrary. On Thursday morning the time agreed upon for the surrender of the goods, his wife and Mrs. Wright were seen approaching the house in a carriage. He remarked to a number of gentlemen who were present in the yard with him that he would go and invite them in. He met them near the gate before they alighted, and only saying as a salutation, "The settlement has been made, now for the death," he drew from about his person a small Sharp's revolver and fired three shots at the ladies, only one of which took effect. Mrs. Wright was hit in the left side the ball striking a rib and glancing around toward the spine. The two shots fired at his wife passed through her clothing in close proximity to her body but her person sustained no injury. When the firing began his wife in jumping from the carriage fell at full length and he, no doubt, thought his bloody work was done. He then retreated a few paces and placed the muzzle of the revolver to his forehead and fired. The ball entered near the middle of the forehead, a little to the left of the base of the nose, passing over the superciliary ridge and breaking through the ungue, nasal and turbinated bones of the ethmoid bone and thence following the ethmoid bone cutting through the soft palate and down into the esophagus a little to the left of the uvula. The scene which followed can be imagined better than it can be described. The frantic screams of the women, and the excitement of the gentlemen present are indescribable. McCarter was conveyed into the house and Mrs. Wright was brought to town for treatment and is now at the residence of Mr. L. CRAVEN. Her wound is but a slight one from which she will recover as soon as the mental anxiety and excitement subsides.

McCarter's wounds are of a more serious character, yet it is expected that he will survive them. It is evident that his intention was to take the life of his wife, Mrs. Wright and himself and probably would have succeeded if the weapon used had been of a more forcible character. It was by the merest accident that his own life was spared. When he placed the revolver at his forehead he bowed his head and the ball took a downward inclination instead of through his brain as he intended it should. The circumstances as we have related them are such as we have been enabled to gather from the most reliable sources. They may vary in detail but the facts are substantially as stated. It is a sad occurrence and one which draws out the hearts of our citizens in sympathy for the grief stricken families.

LATER:

Since writing the above we have interviewed Mrs. Wright one of the principals in the tragic scene, and her statements as to the cause of their repeated separation is quite different from those made by us. She emphatically denies ever persuading the wife of McCarter to leave her husband and affirms that she always insisted and prevailed upon her to live with him. Her statement to us is entitled to as much credit as that of floating gossip.

STILL LATER:

Yesterday afternoon McCarter was arrested and put under bonds of $3,000 for his appearance in court on the 29 of August.

ROCHESTER SENTINEL, Saturday, August 16, 1873

TWO PERSONS KILLED BY DAMPS IN A WELL.

On last Saturday afternoon MOSES KING, Esq., and his oldest son were both killed by damps while working in a well. The facts as near as we can learn them are as follows:

In the forenoon of the day mentioned he was working in a well, trying to fix an iron pump which had been drove in a dug well which is about 20 feet deep. Not being able to take the pump apart he went to Monterey to get a wrench and returned in the afternoon and not suspecting any danger went into the well and had scarcely commenced work when they noticed him to be in a reclining position in the bottom of the well, and when called to, was not able to speak, but moaned which frightened the wife and children at the top of the well. Not knowing what was the matter the oldest boy, a lad of about ten or eleven years, told his mother to let him down and he would fasten a rope to him and draw him up. The boy had not reached the father when he called to his mother and said "Mother I am sick" when she quickly commenced drawing him up and when near the top the rope broke and precipitated him to the bottom of the well, where he died with one hand cleaving to his father and the other holding fast to the rope. The scene that followed can only be imagined. The dying father and son within twenty feet of pure air, home, and friends. The frantic wife wild with excitement, could behold the father and son in the agonies of death, almost within reach, yet no help could be devised or was within her reach to relieve them until the last spark of life had fled.

The bodies of the dead were not rescued until about 10 o'clock of the same night. One young man was lowered in the well who attempted to rescue the bodies but was drawn up insensible.

The funeral took place from his residence on last Sunday afternoon; and through the kindness of A. D. TONER and brother, in procuring their team and carriage we were permitted to attend the same, and we can truly say outside of family bereavement, we have never witnessed such a sad and melancholy scene. One large double grave was dug for their last resting place, and at the head were the coffins, the father on the right and the son on the left, with an aisle between them for the gazing multitude to pass and take a last lingering look at the lifeless remains.

A heart-broken wife with three orphan children, an aged father and mother, brothers and sisters with numerous friends, gazed upon the remains of two that twenty-four hours previous were in the vigor of life. All this should be a warning to remind us of the shortness of life and the certainty of death. -ELI LEITER.

It is supposed they journeyed to Rochester, where they were joined in the bonds of matrimony.

SAD ACCIDENT. -A son of C. S. GRAHAM was kicked by a horse and probably killed. This morning about seven o'clock the boy, a lad of about thirteen years, was sent to the field to bring the horses, and not returning in due time the father went to the field and found the boy lying insensible on the ground, a deep wound in his forehead from which the brains were oozing. He was immediately taken to the house and medical aid summoned. He lay unconscious the most of the day. In the afternoon he was more sensible than at any other time. He said that the nag pranced around and fell down, falling upon his leg, and when she raised to her feet, he received the probably fatal blow.

The above was written last week but failed to get an opportunity of sending it to the office. Since writing, Dr. FITCH of Logansport, performed a surgical operation on the boy, taking out about two square inches of the front or skull bone just over the left eye. The brains were not as much injured as it was at first thought, as the membrane was broken and the brains oozed out in two different places. At present writing the boy is doing well and hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Two boys, one belonging to L. M. MONTGOMERY, the other to LEVI MERCER were both riding the same horse on Thursday evening. The horse got to going faster than the boys cared to ride and young Mercer either jumped, or fell off behind. In the fall his arm at the elbow ws dislocated.

All the injured parties in the McCARTER-WRIGHT tragedy have so far recovered as to be able to visit town. We met Mr. McCarter on the street a day or two since and see no perceptible marks on his countenance except a few grains of powder which seem to be securely imbedded in his nose. Some of the boys think he did wrong in not shooting himself first.

GRAND PICNIC. The Whipporwill and Mount Pleasant Sabbath Schools, of Richland township will pic-nic on the banks of the Tippecanoe river one-half mile south of RILEY ADAMSON's residence on Saturday, September 20th, 1873. E. M. McCoy's String and Martial Band of Rochester has been engaged for the occasion... DAVID MILLER, Supt.

One of the incidents of the pic-nic here on Wednesday last, was the attempted balloon ascension. A balloon about twenty-five feet in length had been constructed of tissue paper, and arrangements made to prepare it for its aerial flight from the North East [sic] corner of the public square. A rope was stretched from the top of Dawson's building across Main street and fastened to a tree on the opposite side. To this another rope was fastened near the center, from which the balloon was suspended for inflation. While in this condition the frail material gave way, severing the whole structure in twain about three feet from the top. It was, however, soon repaired and after two or three unsuccessful attempts, gradually arose and moved slowly, and steadily away until it came in contact with one of the trees in the Court House yard, where it ignited and was consumed amid the shouts of the children, who seemed to enjoy it more than if the effort had proved successful.

TERRIBLE DEATH. Accident or Suicide?

The sickening details of the horrible death of MARGARET WALTZ was furnished us by SEBASTIAN GOSS, who lives in Liberty township near where the occurrence took place, and are about as follows:

JAMES WALTZ together with his wife and two little children aged respectively four and six years, live upon and occupy one of the farms of Mr. Goss as tenants. For a few months past Mrs. Waltz has been in very poor health and her conduct at times has been such as to leave no doubt upon the minds of those who were most intimately acquainted with her that her mind was somewhat deranged. The fact that she had at various times asked her husband to throw her into the well and end her sufferings is sufficient evidence of a disordered mind. Early last Friday morning her husband left her for the purpose of coming to town and attending Queen's show. Just how long it was after he left home that the clothing upon her person got on fire and she jumped into the well, is not known, the children being the only persons about the house and too young to make a clear statement of the case. At all events the alarm was not given until one o'clock p.m., and when parties arrived they found her in the bottom of a twenty foot well -- dead, with nearly every particle of her clothing consumed and the flesh upon her body burned to a crisp and falling from the bones. The premises were searched for a clue as to the manner in which the fire was communicated to her clothing but no fire was found and the statement of the eldest child that she lighted a shaving to start a fire in the cooking stove is perhaps correct. The matter is shrouded in mystery and perhaps will ever be so. The feelings of the husband can be imagined better than described upon returning home late in the evening and finding affairs about as related above.

JURORS. -The following persons have been selected... for the October term of the Circuit Court, commencing on the 20th:

PETIT JURORS. JAMES A HUMES, ANDREW JACKSON, NOAH WAGONER, FRANK ALLEY, GEO. R. BEARSS, WILLIAM OSBORN, WILLIAM BEMENDERFER, DAVID FULTZ, GEORGE COOK, JOHN W. RUSH, BENNEVILLE HARPSTER, JAMES McQUERN..

SHE STEALS. -A Mrs. JANE HIATT, who lives somewhere in the northwestern portion of the county, visited Rochester in company with her husband, on Thursday last, and did a good days work in the way of shop lifting.

... She was not detected until quite late in the afternoon... Her last act of theft was undertaken at the store of Mr. GOULD, and would, undoubtedly, have proved successful had it not been that Miss ELLA HOLMES chanced to see her hurriedly secrete a string of beads in her pocket... She went from thence to the north side of the building occupied by ERNSPERGER & JACKSON, where she was seen secreting something beneath a pile of shingles stacked up at that point. No steps were, however, taken until she and her husband started for home when they were stopped by the parties interested, and interrogated by Mr. GOULD, JACKSON, and others confessed the various crimes committed during the day... BIBLER & BABCOCK, JESSE SHIELDS, D. S. GOULD., ERNSPERGER & JACKSON... After telling the whole story so far as the day's doings went, she was permitted to return to her home.

We learn from merchants here that she has been in the habit of visiting stores frequently, scarcely ever buying any thing..

Last Saturday afternoon the old carpet was removed from the floor of the COURT ROOM preparatory to cleaning and renovating the temple of justice.

The floor is covered with about nine inches of sand and dirt the accumulations of several years. Mixed with this, it is roughly estimated, is not less than seventeen bushels of fine fat fleas (not fees) which have enjoyed life undisturbed for many, many years. These are of the very finest kind and unlike the proverbial church mouse, they are not poor. In addition to this it is thought the bare floor will not be reached until at least two dray loads of exhausted tobacco quids have been shoveled out.

The carpet as it was, needed no tacking, for it was firmly cemented to the whole mass by mortar of the most enduring kind, composed of the finest sand duly saturated with pure juice of the weed and thoroughly dried by the heat of a dozen stoves from above and below.....

The plastering which was in many places cracked and falling will be thoroughly repaired and covered with two coats of white wash. This will greatly improve the appearance of the room as well as its sanitary condition. What we need, really, is either a new Court House or an addition of several feet to the upper story of the old structure.

AL. GOODRICH is on hand this fall with a full stock of cider BARRELS, flour barrels, meat casks, and all kind of cooperage ... Remember the place, near the depot on the south side of the Akron road and the south shop.

JACOB STARBUCK, while visiting his prairie home, in the western part of this State, and making preparations for moving his family to the same, met with a sad bereavement. His little son eleven years of age was returning home from a field where they had been working, and to oblige his parent by performing an errand previous to his arrival, rode in advance of him several furlongs accompanied by another little boy. Being an expert rider, the father had no solicitude as to his safety. The horse, however, that he was riding, stumbled and fell, throwing the boy several feet from him, dislocating his neck. The little companion hastily returned with the intelligence, but before the father could arrive the spark of life had gone from those bright eyes which but a short time before sparkled in mirthfulness. He was an obedient and dutiful child and a favorite among his school mates. The parents have the sympathy of many friends in their loss.

UNION, IND., October 15, 1873

Perhaps all the readers of your paper will not know where Union is situated... it derives its name from the UNION CHURCH, which is situated two miles and a half south-east of Rochester on the Wabashtown road. We might say 'tis one of the oldest churches in the county, and is now undergoing a thorough repair by Mr. JOHN YOUNT, under the supervision of A. G. SINKS and others.

Mr. WASHINGTON WOODFILL has a brother-in-law from Indianapolis visiting; he is also buying a car load of apples to ship to that city.

Mrs. THOMAS M. WILSON has been seriously ill for some weeks, but is now recovering under the skillful treatment of Dr. BRACKETT.

Mr. G. B. GROVE is contemplating a visit to Castalla, O., and will not return till spring. I fear some of the young ladies of this place will be sadly disappointed over his departure.

Mr. JAKE and SAM MILLER are building a barn for WM. McMAHAN.

E. H. WILSON returned home last week; has been visiting relatives in Columbus, Ind; also WILLIS CARTER returned from Missouri, and is now busily engaged making cider.

Mrs. WM. CARTER [while at the exposition at Indianapolis lost] a valuable gold pin. JACOB CAMERER and wife are visiting friends in Rush County, Ind.

The Justice's court was in session nearly the whole of last week trying a series of criminal cases in which the SHRIVER family constituted the central figure.

About two weeks since, while five members of the family above mentioned and a like number of the DAVIS family were on their way from Omega church in Henry township, a difficulty arose between JAMES SHRIVER and JAMES DAVIS, which resulted in a fisticuff between the two. When once fairly commenced, the fight soon became general, involving the whole crowd, with perhaps a single exception.

No one was seriously injured, and at the time of trial no marks of any kind were observable upon the persons of any of the contestants.

Mr. NATHAN DAVIS, the father of the Davis family, came to town early after the engagement, and commenced six prosecutions against the Shriver boys for assault and battery. These cases were either tried or otherwise disposed of before Justice ASHTON, who fined OLIVER SHRIVER five dollars after a trial lasting two days. There were no witnesses except the members of the two families, and judging from the testimony we heard, we suppose that the prospect of a home in heaven for these witnesses is not at present very flattering. In four of the cases the Shrivvers plead guilty, and were fined one dollar each. One case was dismissed by the State.

In the meantime the Shrivvers had commenced three prosecutions against the Davis family, which were tried on Thursday and Friday of last week before Esquire REESE. The first was tried by the Justice, the second by a jury, while the third was abandoned by the State. The verdict in each of the above cases is, "not guilty."

There were just five witnesses on each side, and said all the best possible for their respective families. Then came a number of impeaching witnesses to prove the Shrivvers unworthy of belief.

We are not able to give the exact cost of these prosecutions to the convicted defendants, but suppose it will not be less than two hundred dollars.

An appeal has been taken in the case of Oliver Shriver, but will probably be abandoned.

An impromptu meeting of the musically inclined citizens of Rochester met at the M.E. church last Monday evening ... taking into consideration ... holding a musical convention ... Prof. SUFFREN (led singing), after which an organization was effected by electing J. E. CLARKE, Chairman, and EUGENE RITENOUR, Sec'y. It was then determined that a MUSICAL CONVENTION be held at this place, opening on Monday, November 10th, and continuing four days ...

-We briefly announced last week the very unexpected death of LAURA L. ROBBINS, wife of ALVIN ROBBINS. No event that has occurred for a long time cast such a gloom of sorrow over the community as that occasioned by her demise. She had lived at this place for 22 years, and was known, respected, and loved by all for her many Christian virtues, fine social qualities, and motherly affection. She was an ornament to the church and society, and her loss is deeply felt and regretted. Her funeral took place last Sabbath, and notwithstanding the very inclemency of the weather, the large church was densely filled with sympathizing friends, which plainly showed her firm hold upon the affection of the people. A change of venue was taken to Justice ASHTON, where the case was tried on Thursday last on an agreed state of facts. The only question was, does the law apply to persons holding license? This Mr. Ashton decided in the negative, and of course the defendant was acquitted. This leaves all the saloons open as long as the proprietors desire.

ROCHESTER SENTINEL, Saturday, November 22, 1873

It will be remembered that in our last issue some account was given of the exhumation of the body of a woman by her husband for the purpose of removing a rag from her throat, and that it was intimated that some foul means had been used for the purpose of sending the unfortunate woman to her present resting-place.

It was also intimated that the authorities were investigating the affair with intent to bring the guilty parties to justice, if a full knowledge of the facts should justify the belief that a crime had been committed.

It is the business of the SENTINEL to aid in the discovery of all offenses by every fair and legitimate inquiry, and assist in bringing the guilty to justice. It is no less its duty to make a fair and impartial statement of facts as well upon the one side as the other, to the end that no one shall be unjustly dealt with in any given instance, whatever the general character of the parties involved may be.

The SENTINEL claims the honor of having first discovered this strange and remarkable case, and has taken some pains to make its investigation impartial and complete. A little over four years ago, the wife of one SAMUEL FARNER, who was then a resident of Richland Township, died after a short and not very severe illness, in the absence of all her relatives except her husband.

Her remains were taken to the burying ground near the residence of Mr. WM. MOON, father of the Sheriff, and there interred, with the other members of her father's family previously deceased. About the first of October, her husband, who was then living with his second wife, proceeded to the burying ground, in company with one or two of his own relatives, and there personally exhumed the body, and extracted, as he claims, a handkerchief or other rag from the throat.

We are informed that this was done in the day time without any apparent effort at concealment, the parties stating at the time that there was, or they believed there was, a rag in her throat, and, according to a prevalent superstition, one member of the family would die each year until the same was removed. A few weeks before the exhumation, one WILLIABT FARNER, a brother of the husband, had died at Logansport, from the effects of an accidental pistol shot, and was brought here for interment. Whether any other member of the family died since the unfortunate demise of the wife, we are not informed; but if so, it might have the effect to somewhat confirm the superstition in the minds of the family, as they are all ignorant to an almost inexcusable degree.

For the purpose of ascertaining whether such a foolish superstition as that already alluded to does, in fact exist, the SENTINEL has made diligent inquiry, and has been rewarded by the information that among certain classes the belief is quite prevalent. A certain physician of Fulton County informed us of a parallel case, with the exception that in the instance he related no rag was found in the throat. But here it is said the handkerchief was actually found, and if that be true, the question of how it came there is a very important one. We are told that the parties most interested in this affair claim that by mistake the body was interred before life was extinct, and that by breathing after burial, a handkerchief, which was spread over the face, was drawn into the mouth, and passed into the throat. It is granted that this statement is somewhat remarkable, and smacks slightly of the impossible, and yet we will allow our readers to draw their own conclusions.

Credible persons who were present at the burial say that there was no handkerchief about the body at the time of interment, and hence believe that the husband's object was to conceal the fact that he had caused the death of his wife by forcing the handkerchief into her throat while she was sick and weak. What the object was we know not; we simply inform our readers of the statements made to us, and they may believe as the information may seem to warrant. The SENTINEL desires only that justice be done, and if a crime has been committed, that the offender be duly and appropriately punished.

On Sunday last three or four reckless young men were drinking too much of gin, whisky and such, and so got exceedingly tight, and were quite what we would entitle, a fright. This caused an indictment against AUGUSTIN MEISCH, PERRY MEHRLING and GEORGE McGUIRE. All were tried by Esq. REES, and resulted in acquittal in each case. Before Esq. ASHTON, THOMAS A BEAL was dismissed, and LEWIS and JOHN KREIGH were each acquitted.

SQUALLS. -We have had squally weather this week. It commenced raining on Monday morning, and continued with short intervals until Wednesday evening, when old Boreas arose in his might and played havoc with things generally. It blew the observatory off Mr. C. HOOVER'S fine residence, and the smoke stacks down of nearly all the manufacturing establishments in town. The First National Bank was only prevented from being blown away by its firm and solid financial standing. The night was terrible. The wind howled and so did the dogs. It was a bad night for doctors to be out, yet one did visit ED. AKRON NEWS, December 8, 1873

Mr. ANDREW ONSTOTT, one of the hardy yeomen of this township, came to town a few days ago, and procured the use of Mr. ARNOLD's horse and buggy to drive into the country. As he was proceeding leisurely along upon the public highway, the old horse expressed a strange desire to shake hands over the dash-board. To this Mr. Onstott objected, and so expressed himself by giving the animal a severe cut with the whip. This excited the old horse's ire, and he presented to the gentleman portions of the dash-board in small particles.

WILLIAM HUDKINS and Miss GARBISON went on their way rejoicing yesterday to get married, and we hope they were married and are still rejoicing.

One wedding we forgot to mention last week, viz: ETHAN COLLINS and Miss SHERIDAN. It may be a little old to your readers, but not to them. We mean the news.

On Monday night a raffling match took place at BENEVIL GUISE'S. Not having change enough, his son rode on a horse of Mr. KERSEY's to a neighbor to get some, and on his way he unluckily drove the horse into a hole by the roadside which was full of water. The horse lived but a short time after being taken out of the pit.

A remarkable operation was performed by Dr. FITCH, of Logansport, upon Mr. J. L. McMAHAN of this place. McMahan, or POLK as he is known by all of our citizens, was one of those unfortunate persons who was wounded severely at the battle of Chickamauga. In that memorable fight he received a rifle shot in the forehead, or rather a glancing shot entering near the outer corner of the eye, carrying away the eyebrow and fracturing the skull. For two years it was a running sore from which he suffered no serious inconveniences. After it had grown up there appears to have been a pressure upon the brain by the new matter formed, which caused him much distress, and finally produced spasms or fits which grew more frequent and violent with each returning day. A year or more ago he went to Chicago and was operated upon and portions of the skull bone taken out. He received no relief, however, and his affliction grew worse and worse. He consulted Dr. Fitch and received encouragement from him. With a true heroism that characterized him on the field, he resolved to do or die. Life had become a burden to him and he consented to endure the painful operation, at the hands of a man in whom he had implicit confidence, of removing that portion of the skull bone causing him so much distress. He visited Logansport two weeks ago for that purpose, when the work was skillfully performed by Dr. Fitch, assisted by Dr. COLEMAN, since which time he has been improving in health, and no symptoms of returning fits. He has the best wishes of all who know him as a worthy young man for his speedy and permanent recovery.

DIED. -On the 14th inst., THOMAS WILSON, Jr., aged 29 years. Mr. Wilson was an industrious, intelligent and promising young man. He was reserved in manners, though loved and respected by many friends. He has been afflicted for the past two years with that deceiving disease, consumption, which always makes sure work of its victims. He did not suffer much with his affliction, and like every patient of that disease, was always hopeful of recovery; but that expectation was never realized, but on last Sunday morning the icy arms of death relieved him from the cares, afflictions and anxieties of this world. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. READER, at his father's residence on Thursday last at 10 a.m., attended by a large concourse of people. This is but another evidence of the certainty of death, and that the young must die as well as the old. May we all heed the warning voice.
