Alfred NEERMAN, 425 Clay street, has received word of the death of his brother, Otto [NEERMAN], 76, in Indianapolis, which followed an automobile accident Wednesday evening.

He was an employee of the Indianapolis Star, and of him that newspaper says:

Otto Neerman's distinctive rhythmic shout of "Extra! Extra! The Stars are out. The Stars are out tonight," heard nightly and in the early morning hours at "The Star" corner, New York and Pennsylvania Streets, has been stilled forever.

Mr. Neerman, the 76-year-old "newsboy" who added zest to newspaper selling by "hawking" the headlines in rhymes and song like fashion, is dead.

He died early yesterday morning in Methodist Hospital after being struck by an automobile Wednesday night in the 7200 block of Ind. 431 while on his way to work.

Mr. Neerman has been a Star salesman only four years, but his individual style of announcing the headlines had caused his hundreds of customers to call him "the singing Star salesman."

Ironically, his career as a "newsboy," except for a short stint of paper selling when he was a youth, began and ended with an accident.

When his grandson, Richard J. URBAUER, was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile and injured in 1942, Mr. Neerman "subbed" for him as carrier of the News on a North Side route. Later, Mr. Neerman switched to selling The Star and since had been stationed at the Pennsylvania-New York Street intersection.

Waldo E. Harvey and Walter Brubaker

Instantaneous death came to two signalmen on the Erie railroad one and one-half miles west of Rochester when an eastbound Erie passenger train struck and killed Waldo Emerson "Jack" HARVEY, former Rochester school boy, and Walter BRUBAKER of Huntington who was approximately 40 years old.

The accident occurred at 10:30 o'clock this morning as the two men were operating an inspection motor car on the railroad right-of-way. The train struck them as they were proceeding along the tracks between the farm lands owned by Mrs. Michael EASH and H. R. LONG. Both bodies were severely mangled. The body of the Harvey youth, aged 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold HARVEY of 603 Grant street, Decatur, and that of Brubaker, were thrown some 100 feet by the onrushing passenger train.

The boy's father, Harold Harvey, was game warden for Fulton county for four or five years and resided a mile north of Rochester on U.S. highway 31. A sister of the youth, Mrs. Dean ARVEN, resides in Fulton.

The passenger train was train number 16 which goes daily through this city. The engineer of the train was Charles JACKSON of Huntington and the conductor was Charles SHROYER, also from Huntington.

Coroner Dean STINSON and coroner's clerk Dale BERKEBILE were called to the scene of the tragedy and Coroner Stinson declared the deaths as accidental. F. A. ROBERTS, track supervisor for the Erie railroad, who lives in Huntington, also arrived at the scene of the accident shortly after it happened.

Personal belongings which were strewn alongside the torn bodies of the victims, aided the investigators to establish complete identity of the men. The Harvey youth's identification was established by a billfold found near his body by Track Supervisor Roberts. Mr. Brubaker was later identified by the DeLong station workers where the two Erie employees had a few moments earlier made their report.

Floyd CHRISTMAN, railway express agent, and Max NICHOLS, owner of the Justus News Stand, were at the Erie railroad depot when the accident occurred. They accompanied Mr. Roberts on an inspection car, similar to the one that was smashed in the accident, to where the bodies lay. They then returned to the depot where they summoned Coroner Stinson, Dr. M. O. KING and Zimmerman Brothers ambulance. At present the bodies are at the Zimmerman funeral home.

Waldo Emerson Harvey was born in Adams county near Decatur on October 18, 1928, and went to school both in Rochester and in Decatur. He was employed by the Erie railroad for the past two years. Survivors include, besides his parents and Mrs. Arven, three brothers at home in Decatur, and one sister. They are James A. [HARVEY], Donald [HARVEY], Gary [HARVEY] and Jane HARVEY.

The funeral arrangements and a more complete obituary of both of the deceased will appear in tomorrow's edition of The News-Sentinel.

Wilbert informed his parents that Conrad's friend, Victor CAVAPLE, of Detroit, had phoned them the news of the tragic death. Cavaple and Irvine had just arrived in Tucson from El Paso, Texas, where they planned to reside when the accident occurred as they were walking across one of the busy streets.

Waldo E. "Jack" Harvey and Walter Brubaker

More information was gleaned today concerning the disaster that befell Waldo E. "Jack" HARVEY, 17-year-old former local youth and Walter BRUBAKER, 48, of Huntington when an eastbound Erie passenger train hit and killed them yesterday morning as they were operating an inspection car one and one-half miles west of the Rochester Erie depot.

Burial will be in the Decatur cemetery. The boy's father is well known in Fulton county where he served as game warden for five years. A sister, Mrs. Dean ARVEN, resides in Fulton.

It was understood today that the engineer of the train that killed the two boys, Engineer Charles JACKSON, of Huntington, stated he saw the motor car in which the tragedy victims were riding, but at that time the engine was too close upon them.

The men in the motor car had planned to stop at a point about a mile west of the Erie depot to make repairs on a signal block and had they proceeded but one-half of a mile in the eastward a moment or two earlier the accident would have been averted.

A crew of Erie right-of-way workers are stationed on the siding of the Erie at Monterey and it was from this station that the two men were operating making repairs to switch signals between Monterey and Rochester.

Walter R. BRUBAKER of Huntington, the other man killed in the tragedy, was born April 1, 1898, in Laketon, the son of John H. and Christine HUBBERD BRUBAKER.

Survivors of the deceased include his wife, Clara (MORGAN) BRUBAKER; one son, Daniel [BRUBAKER]; three daughters, Shirley [BRUBAKER], Linda [BRUBAKER] and Mary Ellen [BRUBAKER]. [BRUBAKER] at North Manchester; and three sisters, Mrs. James BLOCHER, Mrs. Galvin BLOCHER and Mrs. Willis McCOLOUCH at Laketon. His parents also survive.

Lester A. Eber and Ruth Eber

A well-known Akron couple are dead and their 19-year-old daughter is in a most critical condition at Woodlawn hospital as the result of a shooting affray which occurred in their home 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Coroner Dean K. STINSON termed the deaths caused by murder and suicide, however a formal verdict was being withheld pending the condition of the daughter.

The dead are Lester A. EBER, 46 years old, assistant postmaster of Akron and his wife Mrs. Ruth EBER, 46, who was also an employee of the post office. Helen EBER, aged 19, the daughter, a nurse's aide employed at the Duke's hospital, Peru, who was spending the week-end at the home of her parents remains in a most critical condition at Woodlawn hospital.

According to reports received from Sheriff Frank SUMMERS, State Policeman Estel BEMENDERFER and neighbors of the Ebers the shooting resulted over a family quarrel.

Reliable information garnered from Akron sources revealed Eber had gone to his farm Sunday morning and on his return, stopped at the post office to sort the mail and then had driven to his home in the southeast section of Akron. Shortly after his arrival home, the quarrel ensued and the daughter Ruth apparently was shot with a 45 caliber revolver while she was on the telephone attempting to summon the Akron Marshal, Ernest LANTZ.

An Akron telephone operator stated she could hear Miss Eber mumbling something about being shot. The operator added that she then heard a shot which stopped Helen in the middle of her call for aid. A few seconds later another shot was heard. The daughter was shot through her chest and a lung, it was stated.

Neighbors said that after they heard three shots from the Eber home, Helen stumbled to the front porch, weakly called for help and stumbled back to the dining room and fell to the floor as a neighbor, Mrs. Curtis RUFF, arrived.

Meanwhile, the telephone operator had called the marshal, Ernest Lantz, Sheriff Frank Summers, State Trooper Estel Bemenderfer, and Dr. Dean Stinson, Fulton county coroner, also were called.

They found the tragedy had occurred in the kitchen of the Eber home. The telephone receiver was still dangling on the wall.

Reconstructing the crime, the officers said Eber apparently had shot his wife as she faced him from the east side of the room and the bullet had entered her right chest, passed through her body, and embedded itself in the wall.

After shooting his wife and daughter, Eber, standing in the northwest corner of the room, shot himself through the head by placing the muzzle of the revolver behind his right ear, officers indicated. His body fell only a few feet from that of his wife, the revolver still in his hand, it was reported.

The cause of the quarrel was not known. Other residents of the community said the Eber family was one of the most respected in Akron.

Eber was a lifelong resident of Akron and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob EBER. A veteran of the first World War, he was a member of the Akron post of the American Legion. He had been assistant postmaster at Akron eight years. He was born April 4, 1900.

Mrs. Eber was a native of Nebraska and had resided in Akron since her marriage. She had been employed as clerk in the local postoffice during the past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Eber purchased a property in Akron two years ago and moved here from their farm at that time.

The daughter attended the Akron school and for several months had served as nurse's aide in the Dukes Memorial hospital at Peru.

A son, Seamen First Class Lester EBER, Jr., had called his mother on March 5th from Lucerne, Switzerland that he planned to return to the U. S. in about a month. Red Cross officials are trying to contact him. Mr. Eber is survived by a brother, Willis [EBER], whose present address is unknown.

Double funeral services will be held for Mr. and Mrs. Eber Wednesday afternoon one o'clock at the Akron Church of God with Rev. Daniel L. SLAYBAUGH officiating. Rev. Slaybaugh will be assisted by Rev. H. Dale BRUBAKER of the United Brethren church. Burial will be made in the Akron IOOF cemetery.

The bodies will remain at the Moyer funeral home until 11:30 a.m. Wednesday when they will be moved to the church where they will lie in state until 1 p.m. at which time the caskets will be closed. Rev. Slaybaugh is the postmaster at Akron and Mr. Eber was his deputy.

YEARICK were attending the show at the Times when a moment or two before 9 o'clock Mr. Moore's head slumped forward and his wife and the others were aware the stricken man was in a serious condition. Moore Real Estate agency on the north side of the public square, was widely known, not only throughout northern Indiana but also in all of the mid-western states. For over a score of years he was associated with his brothers, James [MOORE], Lee [MOORE] and Robert [MOORE] in the Chester White Journal, a monthly breeders magazine published in the interest of the Chester White swine. In this work he traveled extensively throughout the various states and he was regarded as an authority on all matters pertaining to the swine industry. His counsel had been sought and received by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and on several occasions he had written special articles for nationally renowned publications, including The Saturday Evening Post and Colliers.

During his operations as a realtor he backed and promoted various business and civic projects for both Lake Manitou and the city of Rochester and was regarded as one of the city's foremost citizens.

Rex E. Moonshower

It was learned today that Rex E. MOONSHOWER, 45, manager of the Hoosier Mint company, of Indianapolis, who was wounded in an attempted holdup Saturday and who passed away Sunday, 10 a.m., in the Methodist hospital, Indianapolis, was formerly a resident of Athens. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Esta MOONSHOWER.

Mr. Moonshower is survived by the widow, Margaret MOONSHOWER, one son, Rex [MOONSHOWER], Jr., and his parents. The body is to be removed to his parents' home Tuesday. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Mr. Moonshower thwarted a holdup attempt in the Hoosier Mint company's offices at 308 North Capitol avenue and in the gun battle in which he was mortally wounded he shot to death the would-be bandit. Excerpts taken from an Indianapolis newspaper give the following account of the attempted holdup.

"The bandit, John Balpao MILES, 34, of Wilmington, Cal., yesterday was reported by Indianapolis police to have escaped from the Los Angeles (Cal.) County Jail, March 4. He was sought by California authorities, local police were informed, for extortion, kidnaping and jailbreaking.

"The Los Angeles police were said to have notified Indianapolis police that Miles was aided in the escape by a woman who smuggled a gun to him in the jail cell.

"Miles died on the sidewalk in front of the Hoosier Mint Company after being met with gunfire Saturday as he walked into Mr. Moonshower's office with a gun and the announcement, 'This is a holdup.'

"Mr. Moonshower, shot through the abdomen when he exchanged fire with the bandit and died Sunday morning, had been given several blood transfusions in an attempt to save his life.

"Mr. Moonshower, who lived at 635 East 58th Street, was said to have been the chauffeur, body guard and business associate of William. ARMITAGE, 77, 5402 North Pennsylvania Street, head of the Hoosier Mint Company. Armitage, a witness to the shooting, escaped injury.

"Meanwhile, Miles' bride of a week, Mrs. Beatrice MILES, still was being held under $1,000 bond as police detectives investigated her late husband's background. She denied any knowledge of the holdup, saying only that she had 'waited' for Miles while he served an eight-year Federal sentence at Leavenworth, Kan.

"Divorced when Miles entered the prison, the couple was remarried about a week ago at Memphis, Tenn., Mrs. Miles told police. They then came to Indianapolis and were registered at a downtown hotel under an alias when the shooting occurred.

"Using various aliases, Miles had been arrested several times on different charges, police and FBI records disclosed. Police also are investigating the possibility that Miles may have been one of two bandits who took $1,450 in the holdup of the Crest Hardware Store, 3328 Madison Avenue, on April 7."

The youth, driving a 1932 Chevrolet sedan, was going north when express train No. 12 approached from the west. It is reported that Brown evidently saw the train coming and swerved to the right on the crossing. He drove his car down the right-of-way for an estimated 25 feet with the tires straddling the rails before the engine crashed into his car.

The impact of the onrushing train tossed Brown's automobile 100 feet east of the crossing. He was killed instantly and the car, which was demolished, landed on its wheels on the right-of-way.

Engineer George F. STELLER of Huntington, who was at the throttle of the locomotive, stated today that he didn't see the automobile until just before the crash. He added that when he saw the car on the crossing tracks it was too late to pull the emergency brake. The engine was damaged to such an extent that a change of engines was necessary when No. 12 pulled into Huntington.

The other crewmen of the train included D. M. DEERWESTER, fireman, and C. A. OTT, conductor. Both are Huntington residents.

Fulton County Coroner Dean K. STINSON and Assistant Coroner Dale BERKEBILE recorded the death as accidental.

Thomas Brown, the youth who was killed, was a former attendant of the Standard Oil service station at the junction of U.S. highway 31 and state road 25, Rochester. He had been employed there for four months, resigning three weeks ago to operate a dairy route.

He resided with his wife at her father's farm on Macy route one, two and one-half miles south of the Mt. Zion community.

Donald Burkett

Miss Mary Jo BARDSLEY, 22, was reported today to have a 50-50 chance to live in Woodlawn hospital where she remains in a "critical" condition. Miss Bardsley received a skull fracture and a brain concussion in an airplane crash that killed Donald BURKETT, 26, of 321 Washington street, Culver, shortly before three o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The crash took place in a corn field on the Charles O'DELL farm, two and one-half miles north of Rochester.

Miss Bardsley, who was instructing Burkett on his final dual instruction flight, is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth BARDSLEY of Kewanna, an employee of the Lindesmith restaurant at Logansport, and Waldo BARDSLEY of Koontz Lake, near Walkerton, Ind.

The fliers were flying in a Piper Cub J-3 plane that belonged to Mr. and Mrs. Wayne OUTCELT, owners of the Rochester Flying Service.

No witnesses saw the crash, but the plane apparently nosedived and hit on its nose and right side. Miss Bardsley was thrown clear of the wreckage from her seat in the rear cockpit and was found lying some six feet in front of the plane when farmer O'Dell arrived at the scene of the crash.

Jack BEHRENS of South Bend, CAA inspector, arrived here last night and reported today that the cause of the accident was still unknown.

Both Miss Bardsley and Burkett were formerly in the armed forces. She ferried planes for the Women's Auxiliary Service better known as the WASPS, and he spent four years as a ground mechanic in the Army Air Forces. He was in the European theatre of war for 32 months. The flight instruction that Burkett was receiving was being given under the GI Bill of Rights.

Burkett, who was sitting in the front seat of the Piper Cub training plane, received the fatal injury when he was thrown forward after the plane struck the ground. Coroner Dean STINSON said Burkett died from a broken neck and crushed chest. His right leg was also fractured.

The plane was badly damaged.

Burkett had been taking flying instruction at the Rochester Flying Service operated by Wayne and Helen OUTCELT at the Rochester airport. The Outcelts have conducted the school for seven years and trained 2,000 pilots, many for military service. This was the first fatality in the record of the school. Hobart CREIGHTON of Warsaw, speaker of the Indiana house of representatives, recently received his license here.

O'Dell, on whose field the plane crashed, was the first person to reach the scene of the accident. His farm faces east and west on the county roads which intersect State Roads 25 and 31, two miles north of Rochester. The accident occurred in a cornfield a quarter-mile north of the O'Dell farm home.

The terrain in this area had proved disastrous for flyers on Feb. 14, 1943, when three Army Transport Command flyers, all lieutenants, were killed in a field a quarter mile north of the spot where Wednesday's crash occurred. The army flyers were caught in a snowstorm and had come down low to get their bearings when their craft crashed.

Burkett was born in Culver on June 14, 1920, the son of Isaac and Belle BURKETT, and resided there all of his life.

He was employed as a projectionist by the El Rancho theater in Culver. He was a member of the Finney Shilling VFW post of Culver.

Surviving are: the mother; two brothers, Millard [BURKETT] of Detroit, Mich., and Orville [BURKETT] of Culver, and three sisters, Mrs. Iris ESKRIDGE, Mary Martha [BURKETT] and Barbara Ann [BURKETT], all of Culver.

The accident was investigated by Sheriff Frank SUMMERS, Chief of Rochester Police Earl GRAHAM and State Troopers John MORGAN of Huntington and Estel BEMENDERFER of Rochester.

The body was taken to the Zimmerman brothers funeral home and was later removed to the Easterday mortuary in Culver.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock in the Culver Evangelical church with the Rev. F. C. WACKNITZ officiating. The Culver Veterans of Foreign Wars organization will be in charge of the services and burial will be in the Culver cemetery.

Marjorie Capes

The tiny voice of a boy baby, nestled in an incubator in Memorial hospital, South Bend, gave forth eloquent testimony Saturday night to a marvel of modern surgical science--and tribute to the loving determination of his mother who strove against great odds to live so that he also might live.

The baby is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. CAPES, of 401 East Fairview avenue. He drew his first breath exactly four minutes after his mother, Marjorie [CAPES], had passed away at 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

The mother died, according to conclusions reached by the hospital staff following a post mortem examination, because of "a progressive spinal paralysis which finally affected her heart and weakened it, resulting in death which was inevitable irrespective of her pregnancy."

Mrs. Capes was admitted to the hospital on May 13 in the course of an illness which had begun some months before. She quickly won unusual affection in the hearts of the nursing staff and in the minds of the numerous physicians who took an interest in her case.

Her son was born by means of a post mortem Caesarian section performed by Dr. William E. MORRIS, a former marine corps doctor who is now serving a residency in the hospital. His quick and effective action, taken after a brief telephone conversation with the attending physician, prompted high praise from his fellow staff members who said that such success is rare and that they recall only two similar cases in St. Joseph county during the last 25 years.

Mrs. Capes was born in Monterey, Ind., Feb. 14, 1920, and lived most of her life in South Bend. She was married to Mr. Capes in 1942. Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Stephanie [CAPES], at home; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph ZELLERS, South Bend, and a sister, Wilma ZELLERS, South Bend.

Louisa Zellers

Louisa "Aunt Lide" ZELLERS, Fulton county's oldest and beloved citizen, peacefully passed away at 9:30 o'clock this morning at her residence, Toner street, Kewanna. Mrs. Zellers was 100 years, six months and our days of age at the time of her death.

Two weeks ago "Aunt Lide" as she was more familiarly known to a legion of friends throughout this section of the state, suffered slight injuries in a fall while she was attending to light duties about her home and while no bones were fractured, the resultant shock was a contributing factor to her death. Prior to this final illness "Aunt Lide" had enjoyed unusually good health throughout practically all of her life.

Last March 26 she observed her 100th birthday at her home which is shared by her son, Henry ZELLERS. On this occasion "Aunt Lide" proved to be a most charming hostess and her hundreds of visitors were amazed at Mrs. Zellers' ability to remember many interesting happenings and dates of yesteryear. At that time "Aunt Lide" stated, "You know, I'm not ill in any way, but just old."

In reviewing the interesting history of her life it was learned that she has been a resident of Kewanna for over 75 years. She is the last member of a family of 15 children, six girls and nine boys born to John and Elizabeth (CURTNER) MOYERS. Her father was born in Pennsylvania and her mother was born in Tennessee. Both were of German descent. "Aunt Lide" was born on March 26, 1846, just north of Lake Bruce in Aubbeenaubbee township, Fulton county. Her parents, the Mohers, settled on a tract of land three miles north of Lake Bruce in the year of 1829, coming to that sparsely settled area from Carroll county, Indiana. During the Mohers residence in Carroll county, the father made his livelihood by operating a ferry across the Tippecanoe river. He helped in the early surveys in laying out additions for the town of Logansport.

In making the inspection trip for the location of his homestead in the Lake Bruce community the elder Mohers made the journey from Delphi up the Tippecanoe over to Leiters Ford.

In 1843, the Mohers received papers on an 80-acre tract of land and entered it as homesteaders and in the following years added to that tract until their farm consisted of 160 acres of land. During "Aunt Lide's" early childhood days in that community there were many Indians near the Moyers homestead. Wild animals were a menace to the farm animals and to children.

When questioned about the social affairs of those days by a press representative on her 100th birthday anniversary, Mrs. Zellers said about the only form of amusement was an occasional "apple gather" party in the community and following these the young folks would enjoy a "hop" with the music usually being furnished by the whistling of the late Sidney MOON and the young folks singing "I Wonder Where Marie's Going so Early in the Morning." And of course the young ladies wore fluffy, flounced, calico frocks, required from 11 to 13 yards of calico which in the early days of the Civil War cost 50c per yard. Those dresses were worn over of the most roomy dimensions.

When asked about the churches in those early days, "Aunt Lide" said they attended a Lutheran church at Leiters Ford usually walking the three miles barefoot and then before entering the church would put on their stockings and shoes. That saved shoe leather.

Medical facilities in those days were quite a problem. The nearest doctor was located at Lake Maxinkckee and for the Mohers to secure his services it meant a 15-mile ride on horse back by a member of the family, which required a days time. Of course home remedies were used for about ever form of disease.

Seventy-five years ago the Moyers moved into the town of Kewanna, which at that time was known as Pin Hook. The community later became known as Pleasant Grove and finally, Kewanna. At that time there were but a few small houses, and one general store. This store was situated where the local factory now operates, across the street from the P. J. Dwyer general store.

"Aunt Lide" in that interview stated she wove the first carpet that her mother ever had. Weaving those days was quite an industry. An expert weaver could turn out about a yard and a half of finished carpet a day and for this labor the weaver received the sum of 25c per yard. Aunt Lide still has the spinning wheel in her home that her mother used in the making of their clothes.

Mrs. Louisa ZELLERS, was born on March 26, 1846 on a farm north of Lake Bruce, Aubbeenaubbee township, Fulton county, Ind., the daughter of John and Elizabeth MOYER. (Later the Moyers changed their family name to that of MOYERS).

On November 7, 1867, Louisa Moyers was united in marriage with Samuel ZELLERS. Her husband preceded in death about 40 years ago. Seven sons were born to this union, two of whom passed away in infancy.

Mrs. Zellers was a member of the Seven Day Adventist church which she joined about 40 years ago. She was the last survivor of a family of 15 children.

Surviving her are five sons, Henry [ZELLERS] and William ZELLERS, of Kewanna; Enoch [ZELLERS] and Clarence ZELLERS, of South Bend, and Roy ZELLERS of Winamac, Ind. Two sons, Charles [ZELLERS] and Alfred [ZELLERS] died in infancy.
