Earle A. Miller

Earle A. MILLER, director of the Fulton County Department of Public Welfare, died suddenly of a heart attack this morning at 8:45 o'clock in his Courthouse office. He was 80 years of age.

Mr. Miller was having morning tea with members of his staff when he was stricken fatally. When he arrived at the office this morning, he told employees that he had not felt well during the night.

He had been director of the welfare department since 1952 and announced three months ago that he would retire from the post on June 30 of this year.

A native of Rochester and unofficial historian of its earlier days, Mr. Miller had a varied career that included newspaper work, business, sports promotion and movie operator.

In nearly 14 years as welfare director, he had become an active and well-known figure in both state and national organizations of this nature.

Mr. Miller had been both president and secretary of the northwest district of Association of Welfare Directors in Indiana, currently was editor of the Indiana welfare directors' state publication, and belonged to 21 state and national social welfare groups.

He began his newspaper career in 1900 at the age of 15 with The Rochester Republican, a daily newspaper then owned by Major BITTERS. He started as a printer, then became a reporter and writer when the newspaper came under the ownership of Albert BITTERS, son of Major.

Mr. Miller's mother, Mrs. Marguerite MILLER, also was associated with The Republican for many years. She earned a statewide reputation as writer and Chautauqua lecturer. Her "Home Folks," a collection of first-hand interviews with early settlers of Fulton county, has become the definitive source of historical facts concerning this area.

The Republican was combined in 1923 with The Fulton County Sun and published for a year as The Daily News, then merging with The Sentinel.

Mr. Miller left the city to pursue his newspaper career and served as reporter and copy editor on papers in Louisville, New Orleans and San Francisco.

He became associated with the Blue Products company, which manufactured special cleaning powders, in 1931 at Cleveland. Taking over ownership in 1940, he moved the business to Rochester. Mr. Miller sold his interest in the firm to Dea FULTZ in 1954.

Mr. Miller also operated one of the city's earliest movie theatres, the Earle, located in the south half of the present Knapp building. It featured silent films of 20 minutes in length. Admission was five cents.

He also was manager of independent basketball teams during the first years of that sport here and promoted appearances of semi-pro teams for games in the city.

For the past 12 years, Mr. Miller had written a weekly column, "Thoughts at Random," for The Sentinel, in which he discussed welfare programs, philosophy of life and early local history.

Mr. Miller resided at 1212 Main street. His wife, the former Cecyle BRADY, died Aug. 1, 1963. The couple was married Nov. 24, 1912, in this city. There were no children and Mr. Miller leaves no immediate survivors.

Reece A. Oliver

Reece A. OLIVER, 74, R.R. 2, Akron, who died Sunday at his home, had a colorful career which spanned half his lifetime spent in the Philippine Islands and the Far East.

From 1914 to 1942 he was identified with the public school system in the Philippines and later spent most of World War II as an officer in the U.S. Army coordinating educational programs in the Islands and Korea.

From 1914 to 1942 Mr. Oliver was with the Philippines public school system, serving as high school principal and later as superintendent of schools successively in four provinces, the civilian position he held until he joined the resistance movement during World War II, as a commissioned officer in the AUS.

He served as Deputy chief of staff with the intelligence unit, under Col. Fertig, military commander of the Mindanao and Sulu sector. For this service he was awarded the Bronze Star medal.

When Gen. Douglas Mac Arthur returned to the Philippines in October, 1944, Mr. Oliver served in an advisory capacity with a Philippine Civilian Affairs unit of the U.S. Army to reorganize schools in Cotabato and Davao, two adjoining provinces where he had been superintendent of schools before the war.

When the Eighth Army moved to Japan, he served with the Occupation Forces in Seoul, Korea to help elementary school standards for the country when it regained its independence from Japan.

After this, he was reassigned to the Philippines and served for a few months with the military police in Central Luzon, which became a fertile territory for an incipient Communist infiltration movement that caused considerable trouble in that area after liberation.

He was retired as major in the Army of the U.S., and returned to civilian life as branch manager of the Philippine Alien Property Administration for Mindanao and Sulu with headquarters in Davao City.

After the liquidation of alien property in that part of the country, he returned to the U.S. with the three older children and worked for the non-quota immigration entry of his Filipino wife, Flora CARBONELL, a Normal training supervisor, who with the youngest son, rejoined the rest of the family in Akron in September, 1951.

A passenger in the north-bound car driven by Kamp - Mickey D. SHEDLOCK, 15, 426 East 18th street - suffered a torn ligament in his left ankle and scratches. He was treated at Woodlawn hospital and released.

Shedlock told the sheriff's office and state police that he and Kamp were going to Tiosa to visit friends when their car slid out of control on the slippery highway. There had been a light rain shortly before the accident.

Kamp was driving up the first hill north of the Indiana Metal Products plant - about 200 yards north of the drive to the Wilby Evans gravel pit - when the car went out of control.

Witnesses said the Kamp car almost swerved into coming traffic as Kamp tried to regain control of it. The vehicle went off the east berm, traveled 77 feet and hit a tree broadside on the left side of the car, where Kamp was sitting.

The car was not going fast when it began to skid, Shedlock said. Officers said smooth rear tires and the rain contributed to the accident. State police said seat belts might have saved the boy's life.

Leroy L. Walters

Fulton county's third fatal accident of the year was reported at noon today when the body of a 16-year-old boy, missing since Aug. 1, was found in a swamp near the Millark community 5 1/2 miles southeast of Rochester.

The youth, Leroy L. WALTERS, 16, 116 Indiana avenue, son of Mr. and Mrs. John WALTERS, was declared missing Aug. 3 at 9:30 a.m. when Mrs. Walters told the Fulton county sheriff's department that he had failed to return home.

At 11 a.m. today a passing motorist notified the sheriff's office that a wrecked motorcycle was sighted some 10 feet off County Road 375 South - southwest of the Millark bridge.

Sheriff Willard CLARK, Deputy Mike MAHONEY, State Trooper Don SMITH and Fulton County Coroner Dr. W. J. RUSLER investigated. The body was found in swamp grass about 75 feet from the wrecked 1965 Honda motorcycle.

Apparently, according to officers, the boy was driving north on County Road 600 East and in making a turn into County Road 375 South, failed to negotiate the turn. The motorcycle presumably ran off the road through a fence and threw Walters into the swamp grass. The grass is about six feet tall where the body was found.

The condition of the high grass indicated that the boy had thrashed about after the accident, but had been unable to get to his feet and seek help.

The ground was quite wet and soft.

The parents said they first thought the youth had gone to visit his brother, who is in the Seabees in Texas. After having no word from him, they notified authorities he was missing.

Leroy Lynn WALTERS was born June 29, 1950 in Rochester to John L. and Geneva HEISHMAN WALTERS and had resided all his life in the Millark community. He was employed at Dick's drive-in restaurant here.

Surviving with the parents are two brothers, Lonny [WALTERS], Indianapolis, and Leslie [WALTERS], in the Seabees, Chase Naval Base, Belville, Texas and a grandfather, Guy HEISHMAN, Rochester.

Funeral services are pending at the Zimmerman Brothers funeral home.

Friday, August 12, 1966

Larry L. Walters

Leroy L. WALTERS, 16, 116 Indiana avenue, found dead about noon Thursday in the Millark community, apparently died of a combination of traffic accident injuries and exposure, Dr. William J. RUSLER, Fulton county coroner said today.

He estimated the boy had been dead five to seven days before the body was found in a swamp 5 1/2 miles southwest of Rochester. Dr. Rusler said no autopsy is planned because the body was badly decomposed when it was discovered.

The boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John WALTERS, had left home Aug. 1. The parents, who believed he was going to Texas to visit a brother, listed him missing on Aug. 3 after having no word from him.

The body was discovered after a motorist saw an overturned motorbike some 10 feet off County Road 375 South - southwest of the Millark bridge - about 11 a.m. Thursday.

The sheriff's office, state police and Dr. rusler found the body about 75 feet from the wrecked Honda motorbike.

Officers theorized the boy lost control of the vehicle rounding a curve. They believe the youth was not killed in the accident, but was too badly hurt to be able to seek help and died later.

Oren I. Karn

Oren I. KARN, whose Rochester business career spanned almost 60 years and distinguished him as the city's longest continuous merchant, died of a heart attack at 6 a.m. today in his home at 1602 Main street. He was 80 years of age.

Mr. Karn had suffered a stroke two weeks ago, but his death was unexpected by family and friends.

He was founder of the Coffee Shop, popular restaurant and meeting place at 710 Main street, and was active in its operation until his final illness. Included in the business is the Karn hotel, which occupies the second and third floors of the Coffee Shop building.

The Coffee Shop began 40 years ago this September. Mr. Karn's first restaurant was opened here in 1907, however, and his local business career also included the operation of a bakery and a women's wear store.

For many years active in civic affairs, he served three terms on the City Council in the 1930s and also was a member of the Water Works board of trustees.

Mr. Karn was the last survivor of the city's turn-of-the-century businessmen.

His first restaurant was the American cafe, opened in 1907 where Harvey's Dime Store now is located and moved in 1911 southward across the alley. In 1920, he sold the cafe and opened a retail and wholesale bakery outlet at his starting point northward across the alley.

But the restaurant business again beckoned, and he resumed this operation a year later at that location. In September, 1926, the Coffee Shop was opened in the room where Mr. Karn also had been operating a women's wear store for five years.

While still running the American cafe, he had opened a baking business on Main street ground now used by the city parking lot. Later he formed the Rochester Baking company with partners Nobby TRUE and Pat MURPHY, erecting the present Nickles Bakery Building on East Eighth street.

In 1914, Karn launched his own bakery in a building at the rear of the present Snyder's Jewelry.

He is credited with being the first in Indiana to conduct house-to-house sale of baked goods to country homes. The bakery, which also served his restaurant, operated 28 years until the advent of World War II.

The Karn hotel was opened about 1914, before the Coffee Shop occupied the downstairs room. It later was leased to others for 30 years but Mr. Karn resumed its operation in 1957.

His son, Harold [KARN], long has been a partner with his father in the restaurant and hotel operation and in recent years assumed active management.

Born June 13, 1886, in Chili, Mr. Karn was the son of Reuben and Millicent MURPHY KARN and had lived in this city since the age of three. His first marriage was to Grace BURGNER, who preceded in death, and his second marriage was to Margaret O'KANE on Oct. 4, 1911. She survives. The Karns had resided in their Main street home 46 years.

Mr. Karn was a past master of the Masonic lodge and also belonged to Knights of Pythias, I.O.O.F. lodge and Chamber of Commerce.

Surviving, besides the wife, are a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Dolores) DOCTOR, Angola; the son, Harold; two brothers, Harry [KARN], Macy, and Russell [KARN], Rochester, and four grandchildren, Richard, John and Jean KARN and William DOCTOR. Two brothers, Walter and Byron [KARN], preceded in death.
