Stephen W. Minarik

Dragging of Lake Manitou for Steve MINARIK of Rochester, believed to be a drowning victim, continued today after unsuccessful efforts to recover the body Thursday night.

Sheriff Robert NEWGENT, in charge of the search, said a positive identification will not be released by his office until the body is found.

However, officers are going on the assumption that it was Minarik who was driving a snowmobile which a witness saw go through thin ice shortly before 8 o'clock Thursday night

The witness is Wes LEEDY of Peru, a friend of Minarik. Leedy telephoned the sheriff's office at 8 p.m. Friday to report that Minarik's snowmobile went through the ice about 1,000 feet from the north shore of Lake Manitou.

The site is almost directly south of where the Paul SCHMIDT home burned to the ground last Friday night.

Personnel from the sheriff's office, state police, Rochester police department, Conservation Department and Rochester fire department searched and dragged the area until 10:30 p.m. Friday. They called off the search at the time because of darkness and the fact that the ice around the area was becoming unsafe.

This morning, an airplane was used in an effort to spot the snowmobile through the ice but his was unsuccessful. Dragging operations then resumed.

Divers from the Peru state police post and from the Culver police department were standing by this morning. Sheriff Newgent said diving would be used as a last resort.

Lake Manitou has not been the scene of a drowning since 1965. An ice skater drowned nine years ago Thursday--on Jan. 16, 1965--and a swimmer drowned in June of 1965.

The last drowning in Fulton county was in the Tuppecanoe river in June of 1973.

Stephen W. Minarik

Services for Stephen W. MINARIK, 29, R.R. 6, Rochester (Rochester Mobile Home Court, West 11th street) who drowned in Lake Manitou Thursday night, will be at 2 p.m. Monday in the Foster & Good funeral home.

The Rev. Ira HOLT will officiate and burial will be in the Richland Center I.O.O.F. cemetery. Friends may call from 7 to 9 o'clock this evening, from 2 to 9 p.m. Sunday and on the afternoon of the funeral.

The family requests tha memorials other than flowers be in the form of contributions to charity in Mr. Minarik's name.

Mr. Minarik's body was recovered from 16 feet of water on the north side of Lake Manitou at 2:33 p.m. Friday. The body was about 300 feet from the point that the snowmobile he was driving left the ice and went into open water. The snowmobile was found 10 feet from the body.

The accident occurred about 8:15 p.m. Thursday. Efforts to find the machine and the body were unsuccessful that night after almost 2 1/2 hours and were suspended until the next day. The search resumed about 9 a.m. Friday.

Between noon and 12:30 p.m. Friday, a drag line operated by Conservation Officer Richard EURIT snagged the snowmobile, which was almost buried at a low angle in the weeds and mud at the bottom of the lake, some 1,000 feet from shore.

Shortly before 2:30 p.m. Friday, the body was located by a boat operated by Rochester Fireman Paul THOMAS and Fred CARR.

Twenty-seven persons were involved in the search for the body--22 from law enforcement agencies and five private citizens.

There were reports that Mr. Minarik had been snowmobiling with his two children--daughter Ledah, 7 and son Stephen [MINARIK], 9-- and had taken them home and then returned to the ice a short time before the accident.

Sheriff Robert NEWGENT said that the snowmobile apparently was going at a high speed at the time it left the ice. It "planed" the water for 200 to 300 feet before it went down, he said.

Fulton county coroner Junior D. GOOD said death was due to drowning.

Lake Manitou's north side has several springs and is considered the most dangerous area for winter sports because of open areas in the ice and thin ice which cannot be detected easily, especially at night.

Sheriff Newgent, who was in charge of he search, praised the efforts of the state police, four pesons; Rochester fire department, six persons; conservation department, thee persons; Rochester police departant, two persons; Marshall county divers, five persons; sheriff's office, two persons; privae citizens Fred CARR, Doug SAMPSEL, Ted HALTERMAN, Joe WILLIAMS and Bob GOODMAN.

The sheriff also noted the help of Mr. and Mrs. Charles RAUSCHKE, who opened their Lake Manitou home to the searchers, and a catering service which proveded food and drink. The caterers did not identify themselves, he said.

Mr. Minarik was born Aug. 4, 1945 in Rochester to Frank and Stephanie MINARIK and had lived here all his life. He was employed by he Square D company of Peru the last nine years. He was a member of he Manitou Moose lodge and the Rochester Eagles lodge.

Gary Nickerson

Culver, Ind. (AP) - One man was killed this morning when a small twin-engine mail plane caught fire on a flight from Indianapolis to South Bend and crashed in a wooded area just east of here.

Authorities identified the victim as Gary NICKERSON, 27, Akron, Ohio, the pilot and only person aboard. He apparently walked about one-eighth of a mile after either being thrown from the aircraft on impact or managing to crawl from the burning wreckage, investigators said.

State police said it was too early to determine if the mail aboard was destroyed.

Trooper Julian KEISER of the South Bend post said officers had to use four-wheel drive vehicles and flares to reach the crash site before dawn.

He said efforts to enter the area were also hampered by a fire, apparently started when the plane went down.

"The plane exploded when it hit the ground and the fusilage was burned out," Keiser said. "It was burned beyond recognition and we couldn't tell what the numbers were."

The downed aircraft was first sighted about 4 a.m. by an air rescue aircraft based in Chicago, but it took police until about 6:30 to reach the crash site near Indiana 10 in Marshall County.

The Federal Aviation Administration office in Indianapolis said the pilot radioed Grissom Air Force base at Peru about 1:30 a.m. and said his cockpit was on fire.

The plane disappeared from the Grisson radar screen a short time later and nothing was heard from the pilot after that.

The FAA says the plane was in the final leg of a flight that originated in Akron, Ohio. It had made stops at Columbus, Ohio and Indianapolis before taking off for South Bend.

The aircraft was under charter by the U.S. Postal service and was on a regularly scheduled mail flight, the FAA said.

State police were asked to assist in the search and checked airports around Plymouth in hopes that the pilot may have landed at one of them.

Curt C. Burkhart

Curt C. BURKHART, 34, who gained national recognition as a professional photographer, died Monday afternoon of a heart attack while boating on the Tippecanoe river near his home, west of the city.

Junior GOOD, county coroner, said this morning following an autopsy that Burkhart apparently suffered a coronary occlusion while trying to dislodge his boat from a sand bar. He was recuperating from a previous heart attack.

The sheriff's department said that Burkhart's body was found about 9:30 p.m. Monday in his boat, three-quarters of a mile east of the Pendleton bridge, which is on County Road 200 West.

Making the discovery was Cleon CONWELL, a neighbor, and Bonnie KOLOC of Chicago, a friend of Burkhart's and a prominent popular singer.

The boat was lodged on the sand bar and was three-fourths filled with water. Burkhart was stretched across the back of the boat with part of his body, including his head, submerged.

Conwell's son, Terry [CONWELL], informed the sheriff's office about 9:20 p.m. that Burkhart had been missing since 3 o'clock that afternoon. Miss Koloc said that he had gone onto the river alone.

While Terry Conwell phoned for help, the elder Conwell and Miss Koloc set out in their own boat to search for Burkhart. Police arrived at the river at 9:43 p.m., shortly after Conwell and Miss Koloc discovered the body.

Conwell told the sheriff's office that Burkhart never fished but often traveled the river by boart.

He had been living at the river, east of the bridge, in recent months while recuperating from the heart attack he suffered about a year ago.

Burkhart had maintained a studio in Chicago for 10 years, from where he earned national honors for excellence in photography. His work in the commercial photo field had appeared in Life, Look, Playboy, Time, Esquire, Fortune and Newsweek magazines.

His photographs won awards from the Chicago International Film Festival and from the International Film Festival in New York.

A graduate of Rochester high school, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. JOHNSON of Lake Manitou. Graduating from Wabash college in 1963, Burkhart began his career as a stagehand for Twentieth Century Fox studios in Hollywood, worked as a news photographer for The Los Angeles Times and was national advertising administrator for Cummins Engine company in Columbus, Ind., before opening his Chicago studio.

In 1973, he staged a one-man photographic essay show at Wabash college, consisting of a 12-year collection of pictures taken around Rochester. During that time, he conducted photo workshops for Wabash students.

He also worked in filmmaking and theatre direction and his photography is represented in the permanent collection of the Art Institute of Chicago.

Last rites are tentatively set for Saturday morning at the Zimmerman Brothers funeral home.

John Francis and George Lewis Murphy

Two persons--one of whom police believe was a hit and run victim--were killed in traffic accidents on Fulton county roads over the weekend.

Dead are John FRANCIS, 34, Macy, who was killed in a one-car accident near Nyona Lake Sunday at 1:10 a.m., and George Lewis MURPHY, 31, Walton, who police say was struck by an unidentified auto on County Road 800 North Saturday at 10 p.m.

The deaths were the first traffic fatalities in Fulton county this year.

State police initially believed Murphy's death may have been the result of foul play. He was found dead on 800 North, west of Ind.17, by a passing motorist who said she narrowly missed hitting the body.

However, following an autopsy performed at noon Sunday in Plymouth Parkview hospital by Dr. T. P. DeGRAFFENRIED, police said the death apparently was caused when Murphy was hit by an auto that left the scene.

A second auto hit Murphy after he was dead, according to police, and that vehicle also left the scene.

Police said DeGraffenried ruled the death was due to a skull fracture.

Murphy had been spending the weekend in a trailer near Culver by the Tippecanoe river and left the trailer on foot Sunday night after an argument with some members of his family, police said. The family then hunted for him in an auto but reported they did not find him, said police.

Murphy's body was taken to Parkview hospital after it was discovered.

Francis was killed after his westbound auto on County Road 650 South, one mile west of old U.S. 31, skdded on a 25-mph curve and smashed into a tree, according to state police.

Police said the auto was traveling at a high speed and the vehicle wrapped around the tree.

Francis, who was alone in the auto, died of a fractured skull, a fractured neck and massive internal injuries, police said.

Police said he was killed instantly.

Sandra Jean SerVass

The niece of Lake Manitou summer resident William SerVASS and of Curtis Publishing company President Beurt SerVASS has been found beaten to death in a home at Vista, Cal., where she was vacationing.

The victim was Sandra Jean SerVASS, 28, Indianapolis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John SerVASS of Indianapolis.

Her uncle, William SerVass, lives in Carmel and has had a home on the north shore of Lake Manitou for many years. He gained considerable public notice some years ago as he drove his home-made airboat on the Manitou waters.

Miss SerVass had been visiting another uncle, retired Navy Capt. Herbert CAMP, who found her body Saturday night near the rear of the home after returning from an outing.

The coroner's office said Miss SerVass died of extensive injuries to the head, chest and abdomen. Investigators said there were indications of forced entry into the house and that a blunt instrument was used but would not comment further.

Beurt SerVass said his niece, who had a black belt in karate, had left Indianapolis four days ago. A close friend of the woman, Fred A. BIRMINGHAM, managing editor of the Saturday Evening Post, a Curtis publication, said "she would have defended herself" if she had a chance.

Miss SerVass was a native of Indianapolis. She was graduated Phi Beta Kappa in 1969 from Wellesley college and later taught English at a school in Tokyo.

Lela A. Hildebrandt

A young Winamac woman died of shotgun pellet wounds in her head before her auto crashed into a tree on Ind. 17, 1,800 feet north of County Road 700 North, Tuesday night, authorities said today.

Fulton County Coroner Junior D. GOOD of Rochester said an autopsy of Lela A. HILDEBRANDT, 26, R.R. 1, Winamac, Thursday morning showed that shotgun pellets entered the left side of her head and lodged in the brain area.

It was believed earlier by police that she was a traffic victim after her southbound auto left the highway and struck a tree seven miles northwest of Rochester in Aubbeenaubbee township.

State police said today they are investigating the shooting as a homicide. They said they have no suspects in the shooting and are trying to determine the exact area from which the gun was fired.

State police said the autopsy did not disclose what gauge shotgun the pellets were from nor how far away the shotgun blast was from the moving auto.

They said samples have been sent to their laboratory in Indianapolis and a more complete report is forthcoming.

The crash occurred about 8:15 p.m. Tuesday and state police, sheriff's police and Culver police are investigating.

Mrs. Hildebrandt was the wife of John H. HILDEBRANDT and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. DONNELLY of Culver.

State police Detective Sgt. Robert BURNS said the police investigation into the death of Lela A. HILDEBRANDT, 26, R.R. 1, Winamac, has "come up with nothing to show why anyone would want to kill her."

Burns said investigators have checked into Mrs. Hildebrandt's background and thus far have no suspects in the shooting.

Mrs. Hildebrandt's auto crashed into a tree on Ind. 17, 1,800 feet north of County Road 700 North Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. and she was first believed to be a traffic fatality victim. However, an autopsy Thursday showed she died of shotgun pellet wounds in the left side of her head.

Roscoe R. McCoy

Drowning is believed to be the cause of death to a Leiters Ford man who was found in the Tippecanoe river near Leiters Ford Sunday morning.

An autopsy on the body of Roscoe Robert McCoy, 71, was performed this morning in Logansport and Fulton County Coroner Junior GOOD said drowning is thought to be the cause of death. He said results of lab reports are not yet known.

Fulton county police said today there are no signs of foul play.

The body was discovered at 9 a.m. Sunday by a neighbor, Mrs. Ruth BEACH, police said. Officers said Mrs. Beach became worried because McCoy failed to answer his telephone Sunday morning and she searched for him at his house, where he lived alone.

Police said on her way back home from McCoy's house, Mrs. Beach saw his body floating face down in about four feet of water in the river. The place where the body was found is two-tenths of a mile east of County Road 750 West and south of County Road 500 North.

Authorities said they believe McCoy slipped down a steep embankment into the river as he walked home from Mrs. Beach's house around 9 p.m. Saturday. McCoy's hat was located on the river bank and police said there were signs of where he slid down the bank.
